INSPIRING PARADE PART OF TODAY'S GREAT PROGRAM

Various Organizations Are Well Represented in Line of March Today

Armistice Day is being observed this afternoon and evening as follows in Glendale:
1:15—Football game between lightweight teams from Glendale Union high school and Citrus Union high school for the championship of the Central league.
2:45—Football game between teams from the U. S. S. Vestal and U. S. S. California.
5:30—Chow for 200 "Gobs" at the high school cafeteria.
7:00—Boxing bouts at American Legion hall.
9:00—Community dance at the Elks' club.

Thor, Norse god of storms and wars, this morning smiled upon Glendale's Armistice Day celebration.

Nature's reveille at dawn summoned Old Sol from his barracks behind the fortifications of the Pasadena Hills. He arose slowly and cautiously to reconnoiter. He observed that the San Fernando Valley, which was the scene of yesterday's battle of the raindrops, was a scene of tranquility and peace—as befitting the solemnity of Armistice Day.

Pep was injected into this morning's parade by the spiciness of temperature. Additional enthusiasm was inspired by the energetic spirits of the participants. Dru W. Nicoles was marshal.

Plenty of Patriotism

American Legion Post 127 was well represented in the parade. An air of prosperity pervaded the ranks. With this the mingled an atmosphere of rejoicing for disabled and fallen comrades. Ex-doughboys and ex-officers marched shoulder to shoulder, symbolic of democracy.

Disabled veterans were represented in an automobile by Lacey W. Hoge of 431 West Colorado street and George M. Palmer of 209 East Palmer avenue, both of whom will always carry with them mementoes of the World War.

Pershing Talks on Situation in Turkey

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Demands for American military action in Turkey made by American clergymen who otherwise oppose adequate preparedness were denounced in strong terms by General John J. Pershing in an Armistice Day address here today before the National Civic federation.

"Demands are daily made that the American military forces be dispatched for participation in behalf of our former allies," Pershing said, discussing the Near Eastern crisis.

"Strangely enough, those who appeal most loudly for headlong intervention are those who most vociferously condemn any and all preparation for sudden emergency."

Every president who has ever spoken on the subject of our national integrity beginning with George Washington, Pershing said, has asserted that in peace we should prepare for war.

"You hear people prate about being led into war by their statesmen," Pershing continued. "No American statesman has been guilty of such a charge. But there are times when it is impossible to keep out of war without shame and dishonor."

Declaring that he was no militarist, but a practical citizen who did not wish to indulge in day dreams, General Pershing emphasized the chaotic conditions, verging on war in Turkey, Central Europe and the east.

He said America could not regard with indifference developments around these great storm centers, and that involvement could be avoided only through strong and courageous leadership.

"We must ever be watchful and alert against such possibility," he said, in condemning conflicting interests foreign and disintegrating propaganda.

BECOMES HUMAN TORCH

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—J. H. Flemming, Los Angeles railway employe, was seriously burned when a five gallon can of gasoline he was carrying caught fire in the company shops at Fifty-fourth street and South Park avenue.

According to witnesses, Flemming dropped the blazing can, but the burning liquid splashed on his clothing and he was soon a human torch. A co-worker threw Flemming to the ground and extinguished the flames with coats.

CASA VERDUGO METHODIST

It is announced that there will be no program at the Casa Verdugo church tonight. The program will be given Sunday night and will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Concert will be directed by Mrs. John W. Cotton. Solos by Mrs. Waldo Winger, Mrs. William F. Blahie, Mrs. J. H. Burris, Mrs. R. D. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Cotton are among the enjoyable numbers that are on the program.

Lest We Forget

Today, Armistice Day, the United States pays its homage and debt to the boys who kept the "rendezvous" with death on the battlefields of Europe.

It is, as it was provisionally born to be, an occasion solemnized by memories that we are not wont to forget.

Those assignments and sacrifices for democracy made by tens of thousands of gallant Americans in the world war are reflected in our minds and hearts today with bitterness toward none and in hallowed remembrance of an era in which Glendale proved the sterling quality of its patriotism.

And, just as it rose to meet the call of war in 1917, Glendale rose today to stand in silent benediction as the Armistice Day parade passed by, forgetting not and giving mute acknowledgment to the lads who made the supreme sacrifice.

Hence, mundane activities of the business world are cheerfully laid aside for the moment so that we might offer thankfulness for this dawn of a new epoch.

For behind the clouds the cannons stormed.

There was an infinite justice session duly fought.

It was for the boys who fought and fell.

And the ones who lived to yell:

My country 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty;
Oh, I love you as never before.

Glendale Host to Experts on Concrete

Glendale was hostess last night to the Concrete Products Association of Southern California.

The Broadway Inn was the scene of the monthly banquet of this organization and last night's session was the first ever held outside of Los Angeles. The association was induced to come to Glendale because of the reputation of "Dams" Glendale and William Herzl, caterer of the Broadway Inn.

The menu consisted chiefly of fried chicken in cream sauce, French fried potatoes, corn fritters, hot biscuits and other delicacies. At the close of the meal there was very little chicken left and all diners expressed themselves well content with both the food and the service.

The maintenance of the highest quality possible in the manufacture of concrete products was emphasized at the meeting. The point was brought out that only by adhering to the strictest standards of quality could the manufacturers establish their industry on a permanent and satisfactory basis.

M. G. Watkins of Los Angeles, president of the organization, asserted that no manufacturer could buy his way into the association unless his products conformed to a uniform and high standard of excellence. He predicted that membership in the association soon would indicate to contractors that a manufacturer was aware of his responsibility toward the public.

The city of Glendale was represented at the meeting by Mayor Spencer Robinson, who officially welcomed the association to Glendale and City Manager W. H. Reeves, who endorsed the welcome. H. C. Vandewater and Fred Nicolaus of the municipal building department were present, also.

"The city of Glendale is proud to have organizations of this type come here," said Mayor Robinson.

"I am proud of the fact that this city is able to attract such men here as yourselves," stated Mr. Reeves. "The cement industry is one of the most important in the country. Cement is used for everything from a tooth to a street. I only wish that we had the power to attract you to this city permanently."

R. E. Johnston of 400 South San Fernando road, manager of the Concrete Building Tile company, acted as toastmaster. He is vice president of the Concrete Products Association of Southern California.

"The purpose of this organization," stated its president, W. G. Watkins, "is to promote the use of good concrete products and to maintain recognized standards of quality."

Digestion was aided by explosions of laughter at the anecdotes told by Harry James of 1560 East Broadway. He recited his famous baseball monologue.

Latter Day Saints Hold Social Session

The first social affair of the Latter Day Saints church on Wednesday night was a great success, according to the report of S. W. Daynes, one of the church missionaries in charge of the Glendale work. Seventy-five persons attended the affair and enjoyed a local talent program of music and readings and an hour of games and informal sociality.

LONG EARTHQUAKE SHOCK

SANTIAGO, Nov. 11.—An earthquake shock that lasted for several minutes was felt here early today. Early reports reaching here made no mention of any casualties. It was believed, however, that there had been some property damage.

HARDING LEADS IN PAYING TRIBUTE TO HERO DEAD

President Sets Precedent by Placing Wreath on Tomb of Unknown Soldier

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—From the Atlantic to the Pacific America turns aside today from common pursuits to remember her soldier dead of the world war on the fourth anniversary of Armistice day.

Led by the president of the United States, in spirit at least, tens of thousands of citizens will pay honored tribute at the graves of men who gave their all for civilization on the poppy fields of France. The observance in Washington, officially sanctioned by the government, simply symbolizes the homage of a nation for its hero dead.

President Harding, setting a precedent for all time to come, crossed the Potomac this morning into the hills of Virginia to place a wreath on the tomb of the "unknown soldier" who was brought back from France to begin his long sleep on American soil a year ago. This simple ceremony in Arlington national cemetery today heralds a similar recognition of world war dead by presidents of the future.

Simple, but impressive.

Leaving the White House about 10 o'clock with a cavalry escort, the president was accompanied into Virginia by the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy. At the "unknown soldier's" tomb the president, with the two secretaries, advanced to place the wreath, which is the nation's tribute to all the world war dead.

An echo of the gun fire, which brought valorous death to the unknown soldier and his comrades in France, was sounded as the president neared the tomb. The military detachment at Fort Meyer, Va., just a stone's throw away, fired a twenty-one gun presidential salute as the chief executive's party passed.

Scores of persons were gathered at the tomb of the unknown soldier when the president arrived with Secretary of War Weeks and Secretary of the Navy Denby.

War Mothers Help Sick Service Men

Glendale War Mothers of the Lester Meyer chapter have enlisted by Mrs. J. F. Padelford of the relief committee, to play the parts of fairy god-mothers to 260 sick service men at the Hospital Annex No. 1 at Sawtelle by sending one or more glasses of home-made jellies.

Mrs. Padelford spent yesterday at the hospital, and in telling of her visit she says:

"There are 250 sick boys and the doctor told me they need the pure home-made jellies. One boy eats three glasses a day and when I talked to him he said, 'This morning I asked for some but they said they were out.' I know if you had heard him you would give at least one glass."

"Many of these 250 boys have no one to take an interest in them and in addition to needing the jelly they need some one to take an interest in their happiness."

"We are anxious to send a consignment of jelly next Tuesday so the boys will be able to have it at the hospital, tonight or any time before next Tuesday."

The program included piano selection, "Medley of National Airs" by Mrs. H. R. Boyer; dance, "Minuet" costume, by Mesdames Charles Meadows, H. V. Henry, R. A. Puffer, Jr., and L. J. Buris; vocal number, "The Star Spangled Banner," Mrs. Harry McMullin and Music Section; vocal trio, "The Battle Hymn," Mrs. W. P. MacMullin; "When Johnnie Comes Marching Home," Mesdames Frank Arnold, A. M. Draper and Helen Graham Cole; vocal solo, "The Americans Come," Mrs. W. P. MacMullin; flag salute, Music Section; vocal solo, "In Flanders Fields" by Mrs. Harry McMullin; patriotic address by Frank Weller; singing of "My Country 'Tis of Thee" by the company. Mrs. H. R. Boyer served as accompanist for all numbers.

At the close of the program Mrs. Warren Roberts, curator of the section, announced that all members having fancy work for the booth at the Society Circus November 18, would leave it this next week with Mrs. Owen Emery at 106 A East Broadway.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses Mesdames Tannor, Frankie Webb, Helen Sawyer and Owen Emery.

West Glendale Club Meets Tuesday Night

The discussion and adoption of a constitution and by-laws is announced for the meeting Tuesday night of the West Glendale Improvement association at the Columbus Avenue school. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock and the officers are urging all members to be present. An invitation is also extended to visitors.

CHICAGO BOARD CLOSED

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—The Chicago Board of Trade was closed today in observance of Armistice Day.

RAY A. BORTHICK DIES RESULT OF BRIEF ILLNESS

Resident of Glendale Since 1898 and Prominent in Local Elks Lodge

Ray A. Borthick, well known Glendale resident and prominent member of the Elks club, died early this morning, Saturday, November 11, 1922, at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital after an illness of but two days.

Mr. Borthick was taken suddenly ill Wednesday night with acute appendicitis and an operation was performed at the hospital early Thursday morning but his condition was so serious that the operation was of no avail.

Mr. Borthick, who had resided in Glendale since 1898, was one of the most active members of the Elks lodge and his fellow lodge members and many other friends were greatly shocked to learn of his illness and death. He died spent most of Wednesday at the club and according to those with whom he visited he appeared in the best of health.

Comes Here in 1898.

Born in Warrensburg, Missouri, July 23, 1877, Mr. Borthick came to Glendale with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Borthick, in August 1898.

It was in December 1912 that he became a member of the local Elks club, shortly after its organization. He made his home for several years at the club house and took an active part in club affairs as a member of the house committee.

Mr. Borthick and Mrs. Phoebe Eaton were married last March and they have made their home at 321 North Kenwood street.

Mr. Borthick, who was a civil engineer, had been engaged in work with the Los Angeles county fire control department and had worked on the Devil's Gate dam near Pasadena, and had returned recently from work on the San Dimas canyon dam.

Funeral Not Arranged.

He is survived by five sisters, Mrs. E. K. Daniels of 207 West Lomita avenue, Glendale; Mrs. Ira Tucker of Pomona; Mrs. George Dyrum of Watsonville, Angles; and Mrs. Logan Bowen of Modesto; two brothers, W. O. Borthick of 811 South Maryland avenue; and Frank L. Borthick of San Francisco, who has resided in Glendale for several months at his brother's home on North Kenwood street; and an uncle, W. E. Borthick of 206 West Elk street.

Funeral services are to be arranged and announced Monday by the Kiefer & Eyerick Undertaking company.

Local Young People Dance at Pasadena

A party of young people of Glendale motored to Pasadena last night where they were entertained at a charming dancing party at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Gregg, who were entertaining for their son, Douglas. Music was furnished by Arthur Cressy's orchestra of Glendale. Invited guests included Marjorie Hart, Beryl Goodale, Frederica Browne, Lucile Beach, Alice Hill, Carolyn Ayers, Elizabeth Garton, Vivian Nye, Bonnie Jean Lockwood, Wilma Gossard, Barbara Wendt, Arthur Barton, Robert Hatch, Dallas Kallbaugh, Eugene Wernette, Clifford Walcott, Robert Eastman, Dugald Blue, Horace Brown, Jack Finch, Ben Robinson, Davis Chandler and Kenneth Miller. Mrs. A. A. Harton and Miss Gladys Sharpe.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregg and family were residents of Glendale for two years. They left here during the past summer for their present home on Madison avenue, Pasadena.

Wilson Avenue Wins School Soccer Meet

Wilson Avenue Intermediate school defeated the Glendale Avenue Intermediate Senior Soccer team Friday afternoon with a score of 3-0. The last half of the game was played in an uncertain but steady rainfall. Neither team made the showing that would be expected in fair weather. This victory is the second for Wilson avenue in the inter-school league soccer games, the Wilson Midget team having defeated Glendale avenue earlier in the week. The orange and black colors of the Glendale Avenue school were on display throughout the game. Howard Retberg, the highly decorated yell-leader was out in full regalia and forty odd rooters waved gay pompons.

Holiday on Monday for School Children

No school Monday. That is, for pupils. Teachers will convene at the high school auditorium for the second day of institute for this term. Prof. L. E. Bassett, instructor in the English department at Stanford university, will speak at 10 o'clock and Prof. C. E. Rugh, instructor of the department of education at the University of California, will speak in the afternoon. The county board of education will be represented by Hubert S. Upjohn, assistant county superintendent of schools.

EDUCATION BOARD COMPLETES TOUR OF INSPECTION

All But Two Schools Are Crowded; Mass Meeting to Discuss Problem

The Grammar School Board of Education yesterday completed its tour of inspection of the local grammar school system.

"We found every school we visited, except Cerritos and Magnolia, crowded and those schools are comfortably filled," remarked Superintendent D. White, following the trip. All the other schools are badly crowded.

"We came to the conclusion that it would take quite a large program of building and improvement to put the schools in shape to take care of the enrollment that we confidently expect next September. As a matter of fact, we are trying to devise ways and means of getting through this year without putting up further temporary buildings and are not sure that we can arrange it."

The board was asked by Mr. White whether it wished to present some specific plan to next Thursday's mass meeting, or whether it wished to present the mass meeting with the facts and await the opinion of the mass meeting. The second plan was adopted. It is Mr. White's desire that a committee be appointed by the mass meeting to investigate school conditions and report to an adjourned session of the mass meeting.

Elaborate Program.

"The board feels that when the final decision is made," said Mr. White, "it will involve a considerable program."

"At the Glendale Avenue Intermediate school we found that every room in the building is in use almost every period in the week. There are a few periods where you might find one room vacant. In some cases there are two classes in one room. The typewriting room has a class in mechanical drawing in the rear. There are other periods in which the mechanical drawing class has to be held in the end of the hall which is not such a hardship except that the place is not equipped."

The possibility of being obliged to place temporary bungalows on the grounds of the new intermediate school is being seriously considered by the board. This school has no 8th class and in (Continued on Page 16).

Today's World News in Brief By International News Service Leased Wire

BRITISH CHIEF IN TURKEY ASKS FOR MORE TROOPS
LONDON, Nov. 11.—That the near east situation has reached a crisis was indicated today when General Sir Charles Harrington, British commander in Turkey, asked his government for a reinforcement of troops.

REPORT REIGN OF TERROR IN CONSTANTINOPLE
SALONIKI, Nov. 11.—Refugees arriving here today from Constantinople report that they left the city in a reign of terror. They said that Mustapha Kemal Pasha was urging the immediate evacuation of the 250,000 Greeks living on Turkish soil on the ground he would be unable to protect them if hostilities broke out.

BANDITS ROB AUTO CONTAINING BANK'S FUNDS
KANSAS CITY, Kan., Nov. 11.—Three automobile bandits secured $2000 from officials of the Central State bank here this morning on one of the principal streets when they drove alongside the automobile in which the bank officials were riding with the money and held them up. Firing three shots through the windshield, they halted the bankers' car and seized the money satchel. The bandits escaped. The money was to meet a payroll.

TWO MEN KILLED, TWO BURNED IN OIL EXPLOSION
CHESTER, Pa., Nov. 11.—Two men were killed and two horribly burned as a result of an explosion of crude oil aboard the tank steamer G. W. P., lying in the dry dock of the shipbuilding firm of the Sun company here today. There were two distinct explosions. The men at the time were working with acetylene torches burning the heads off rivets on the inside of the tank and the flames of the torches are believed to have ignited the explosive vapor inside the chambers.

FAMOUS MURDER FARM MYSTERY MAY BE SOLVED
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—Indiana's famous murder farm mystery may be solved. Clues, the nature of which are held in the greatest secrecy, are being investigated by the San Francisco police at the request of Chief of Police Alfred Norris of La Porte, Ind., which may bring to light the long concealed story of the slaying of fourteen persons at the home of a woman named Belle Gunness in the Indiana town. Although the bodies were discovered fourteen years ago when fire destroyed the Gunness house, no trace was ever found of the woman according to information transmitted to the police here although rewards totalling $13,000 were offered. Lately information has reached the La Porte police, it is said, that a woman, the object of their search, may be in this district. The police here are conducting a secret investigation on the information placed in their hands.

SULTAN DECLARES THAT HE WILL NOT ABDICATE
LONDON, Nov. 11.—Sultan Mohammed VI, acting under protection of the allies, made the definite declaration today that he would not abdicate despite the decree of the Angora assembly abolishing the sultanate, according to information from Constantinople. This will leave the sultan in a precarious position when the allies evacuate Constantinople and the sultan is left alone. He has no troops and only a few civilian followers. Most of the national convention supports Kemal. Officers of the inter-allied military police at Constantinople interviewed Rafet Pasha and the results were said to be satisfactory. The real situation in the near east is still obscure, but decisive developments are expected over the week-end. The Turks are still jockeying for stronger positions before the near east conference opens at Lausanne. The nationalists did not interfere with the sultan when he attended the regular Friday Mussulman devotions, which are held strictly for the sultan. The sultan drove to his devotional exercises in an open motor car attended by the court dignitaries. No representatives of the Angora government were present at the cathedral. The sultan's demeanor was grave and he prayed continuously.

WOODROW WILSON SHARES IN DEMOCRATIC WIN
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Amid Democratic rejoicing over the rout of the Republican "old guard" at Tuesday's election, former President Woodrow Wilson is today sharing activity in the hopes and plans of Democratic leaders still loyal to him for the election of a Democratic president in 1924 who will be representative of his principles of government. From the familiar residence at 2340 S Street N. W., where he has spent most of his time since he left the White House a sick man, Mr. Wilson addressed a letter to Senator Caraway, Democrat, of Arkansas, which reflected not only the keen pleasure Tuesday's election gave him, but indicated clearly in the opinion of his friends, that he expects to have a voice in the selection of the next Democratic standard bearer. The letter follows: "My dear senator—It makes me very proud that you and the other generous friends should attribute the results of Tuesday in some measure to the people's thought of me, and I am truly grateful to you for your own generous expressions of confidence and approval. I have seen no detailed reports from Arkansas, but hope that the voting there went as you and Senator Robinson desired. We must now clear our minds and purify our hearts to offer to the country in 1924 the exact service it most needs and the candidate who can best render that service."

DRY FORCES WIN VICTORY IN CALIFORNIA VOTE
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—Again California has provided the election surprise of the nation. Believed a stronghold of the wets, the state has passed into the dry column, giving the prohibition forces their greatest victory of the recent election. By a referendum the people of the state have voted in favor of a state prohibition enforcement law which, patterned after the Volstead act, is claimed by the wets to be even more strict in its provisions. On the face of returns from half the state the measure appeared doomed to a two to one defeat. But the early returns were from the northern half of the state where San Francisco recorded 60,000 wet majority. Then an error of 23,000 was found in Alameda county. On top of this Los Angeles turned in an overwhelming dry majority—58,000—and the drys passed into the lead. Returns from the smaller counties added to the dry lead until today it had reached 25,902. Six thousand two hundred forty-three precincts out of 6695 in the state today gave: Favorable, 410,726; against, 384,824. The Wright measure becomes effective upon completion of the official state count. This will be accomplished by the first of December. The various scouts and officials of the state are given the same powers to enforce the prohibition law as are contained in the national prohibition enforcement act and until now administered only by the federal authorities. Should congress modify or change in any way the provisions of the Volstead act, the Wright law automatically accepts those changes in this state. Supporters of the measure claim that the enforcement of the law by the state will aid in stamping out bootlegging, relieve pressure on the federal courts and incidentally divert into the state treasury fines which now go to the federal authorities.

KIWANIS CLUB TO HAVE XMAS TREE FOR ALL CITY

Other Organizations Will Be Asked to Assist Big Community Affair

Glendale is to have a community Christmas tree!

The Kiwanis Club yesterday noon at the Broadway Inn received this suggestion with favor from Herman Nelson and endorsed it unanimously.

President Lyman P. Clark announced that he would appoint a committee immediately to take the preliminary steps in this project and interest other civic organizations.

"I think that the Kiwanis Club ought to arrange for a Christmas tree," asserted Mr. Nelson. "I think that we could get some well located place, put up a good large tree and get all the organizations in the city lined up."

Mr. Nelson expressed an opinion that the Christmas spirit could be best enjoyed by those who have helped bring happiness to others. He stated that this is none too early to make plans for a community celebration.

Plan Turkey Dinner

Thanksgiving is to be celebrated by the Kiwanians on Friday, November 24. Bert Perry received the approval of all members of the club when he mentioned a turkey dinner on this date at the Broadway Inn which is meeting the approval of the house committee because of the excellence of its meals.

The Salvation Army drive for December 5, 6 and 7 was endorsed by an official resolution passed by the club upon motion of Arthur James F. McBryde, Charles F. Stuart, C. W. Ingleside, S. W. Brown and Lyman P. Clark volunteered to offer their assistance to the campaign's executive committee as well as their moral support.

"If there is any club that I have a warm spot for, it is the Salvation Army," remarked Secretary Don H. Webb.

A brief report on the recent sewer conference at the city hall was made by A. L. Baird, chairman of the club's sewer committee. He said that he thought the city was on its way to something definite.

"A Prayer" was read by "Charlie" Stuart as follows: "O Lord, deliver me, I pray, from birds that feel that they (Continued on Page 16).

Letter Carriers Hold Large Social Affair

A "Thanksgiving Dinner" was the main event at the social affair enjoyed Thursday night by the Letter Carriers of Branch 1932, N. A. C. at the Knights of Pythias hall at Brand boulevard and Park avenue. It was the annual homecoming celebration and the women's auxiliary took part in the affair and served the chicken dinner to a company of sixty-five.

One guest describes the dinner in these lines: "There was chicken and cranberry sauce galore. The like of which was never seen before. Then nutmeg and gravy and mushrooms we spy. And salads, celery, coffee and pumpkin pie. What more could be said of the affair?"

We'll leave it to think of between you."

During the evening a musical program was given by Oscar W. Wright, the letter carrier tenor soloist, and by Kelly's Shrine Club orchestra.

A short business session was held and H. H. Fraser, president, introduced the former president, W. W. Hunt, who responded with a humorous talk. Nominations were held for officers for the coming year.

The organization has been in existence less than a year and during that time has won wide recognition. William Lamb was recently made a delegate-at-large of the California organization, and the Glendale organization has received complimentary mention in the national publication.

BOY'S HANGING ACCIDENT

SANTA ROSA, Nov. 11.—A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of Samuel Hutchinson, Jr., young son of a local capitalist, who was found hanging in his father's garage Wednesday afternoon. It was shown the boy was experimenting with a number of ropes on which he was tying various kinds of knots. It is believed he was testing one of these knots and slipped, hanging himself. He will be buried with Boy Scout honors, having been a leading member of the organization.

TIDAL WAVE EARTHQUAKE

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—A tidal wave earthquake along the western coast of South America Friday night almost completely severed cable communication with that country, according to the All-American Cable company. Officials of the company here said today that they had been unable to get any messages through since early Saturday on several of their lines.

PREFERS JAIL TO FINE PROGRAM IS $15 FINE LEVIED BY TRIAL JUDGE

Birdie M. Chase of Pasadena
Refuses to Reason With Eagle Rock Jurist

Choosing a fifteen-day sentence in the county jail rather than pay a $15 fine, Birdie M. Chase of 110 West Green avenue, Pasadena, surprised spectators and attaches in Judge Harold Ide Cruzan's Eagle Rock police court yesterday when she insisted that the judge send her to jail.

Miss Chase was arrested November 1 by Traffic Officer Harry Williams on a charge of driving a thirty-one miles an hour in the fifteen-mile zone on Colorado boulevard. When her case was called this morning she pleaded guilty, whereupon Judge Cruzan levied the customary $15 fine or fifteen days in jail sentence.

"I won't pay the $15 and I much prefer to go to jail," she told the judge.

Judge Cruzan appeared dumbfounded at her request, and asked her to step inside the rail and take a chair until he had finished with the balance of cases to be tried. When he called her before him and sought to convince her that jail was no place for a refined young lady, she remained obstinate and insisted that the judge send her to jail.

Feeling that possibly it might be lack of funds that prevented her from paying the fine, his honor inquired if such was the reason, but the young lady assured him she was plentifully supplied with funds, whereupon his honor made out the necessary commitment papers and she was taken to jail.

Miss Chase admitted that she is the daughter of a wealthy ranch owner, but would not give her father's address. She stated that she was spending the winter in Pasadena.

Motorcycle officers G. M. Booth and I. F. LaRock led the procession attired in their khaki uniforms. They were followed by a cordon of police officers led by Lieutenants V. Griffin. All were attired in their new dress uniforms of dark blue accompanied by white gloves and white topped caps.

The Elks' twenty-five piece band came next. Its members wore white duck trousers and dark purple coats. Their selections included three marches: "Hostrasses" by Chambers, "Frat" by Barth, and "La Perte de La Victoire" by Ganno.

The Sons of Veterans were led by their commander R. M. McGee. They were followed by delegates from the Mary Jane Gillette tent of Daughters of Veterans including Mrs. Susie Peck, Mrs. Hattie Tiffney, Mrs. Alma Dutton, Mrs. Queen Danner, Miss Dorothyanner, and Miss Merrill Bowen.

The brilliance of the fire department exhibit attracted much comment. The flashed red Buick roadster, occupied by Capt. E. C. Fairchild and Capt. Ralph Rodsworth, was followed by Fire Truck No. 1 which was recently built by the members of the Fire Department in their own shop. This carried the following fire fighters: Al Moniot, J. W. Gould, Dean Williams, George Meyers, Jesse Wilke, Tom Young, George Blix and Frank Klefer.

Boy scouts and girl scouts both had a place in the parade. Boys were led by H. F. Benner, scout executive. Troops of the girl scouts were led by Mrs. Fred Roberts, Mrs. R. C. Horner, Miss Gladys Sharp and Miss Margaret Sharp.

The I. O. O. F., Comas Sanitorium No. 246 and the Carpenters' union occupied a prominent place in the line. They were followed by a delegation from the Rebekhas.

Modern Woodmen of America The Glendale Teachers' club were represented by Otto Clinton and Earl King, attired in uniforms of bright blue.

was represented by its president Miss Carrie Noble, who was accompanied by Miss Carol Duncan and Miss Alice Lookabaugh.

A delegation from the Exchange club occupied the automobile of W. C. Waring. Other members present were Fred E. Hoyt and Ed N. Radke.

A contingent of sailors from the U. S. S. California and the U. S. S. Vestal, numbering about 200, arrived on the scene at 10:30 and as soon as they had formed ranks the parade stepped off. It was observed with interest and approval by spectators.

Glendale Union High school football teams were followed by battalions of children from each of the public schools. The Tuesday Afternoon club and a number of other local organizations participated in the parade.

This afternoon football fans are watching the gridiron battle between teams from Glendale Union High school and Citrus Union High school and from the fleet and tonight the boxing bouts in the American Legion hall and the dance at the Elks' club will be well attended.

TALKS ON CHRIST CHURCH PROGRAM FOR EAGLE ROCK

Services at Various Houses of Worship Will Begin at 8 a. m. Tomorrow

"Man's Quest for Reality" will be the Sunday morning theme which Rev. E. Morgan Isaacs of the Eagle Rock Congregational church will take for his sermon.

"In man is a desire for the imperishable and unchangeable. While he grasps after things seen, yet he craves the unseen. He wants to know of the undying quality, and things that are eternal. Is it possible for him to know? To what extent has he been blinded by sin and ignorance? Is there anything that savors of certainty in life? Is such knowledge possible? This is the one great cry of the age."

At the evening service there will be a realistic production of the world's greatest drama. A trip through Europe to the Passion Play of 1922. Harley Hadlock, journalist and lecturer, who recently returned from the Passion Play at Oberammergau will present the pictures with a dramatic interpretation of the play. At the special request of Mr. Lang, Dr. Hadlock conducted a party from California to witness the great production this summer. He will show new pictures of Anton Lang and other famous actors in the play. By request Dr. Hadlock will answer the following questions: What are the conditions in Germany today? Are the thrones of England and Italy secure? Is Europe sitting on a volcano?

Soldier Bonus Bill Without Any Taxes?

FULLERTON, Cal., Nov. 11.—A soldiers' bonus bill to "provide the required funds without adding a cent of taxes or straining the resources of the treasury, and thus meeting all objections thus far raised to the proposed recognition of valorous service," was suggested by William Gibbs McAdoo, former secretary of the United States treasury, at an address here today when he was the principal speaker at Armistice day exercises held by the American Legion posts of Orange county.

"How can it be done?" asked Mr. McAdoo in his speech. Answering his own question, he said to the world war veterans gathered to hear him: "Let the average net earnings of every trust, monopoly, corporation or beneficiary of the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill be ascertained for five years, or for some reasonable period, preceding the enactment of the law. Then take from each of them each year fifty per cent of all net earnings of these tariff beneficiaries in excess of this average, while the Fordney-McCumber bill is in effect, and apply it to the payment of the soldiers' bonus."

CHURCH TO HAVE LARGE CAMPAIGN

Central Christian Announces
Series of Evangelistic
Meetings to Start

Sermons by Rev. Clifford A. Cole and musical features by the Conner Trio are announced for a series of evangelistic meetings at the Central Christian church at the corner of Colorado and Louise street. The meetings will start Sunday night with Rev. Cole preaching an Armistice day sermon and the Conner Trio giving a pantomime of the "Star Spangled Banner."

Members of the Conner Trio are Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Conner and their daughter, Mrs. Helen Conner Nern. Mr. Conner is director and trombonist, Mrs. Conner is pianist and soprano soloist, and the daughter a contralto and dramatic reader.

It is one of the most pretentious evangelistic campaigns ever launched by the local church and Rev. Cole has invited all Glendaleans to join with the church people in attending the meetings. Some of the sermons he will preach next week are announced: "A Voice Out of Darkness," "Who Is This Christ?" "Religion In Your Wife's Name," "Why I Am a Christian" and "The Most Popular Sin in the World."

WILL DRAFT NEW FIRE ORDINANCE

Judge Cruzan of Eagle Rock
Directs City Attorney to Change City Law

When Max Chavez, employed by Mrs. B. P. Garrett, 301 South Satsuma, started a rubbish fire several weeks ago that caused his arrest on a charge of setting a fire within the Eagle Rock city limits without a permit, he also started the beginning of a procedure that is to cause a decided change in the city ordinance that refers to starting fires in the city without permits.

When his case was called before Judge Cruzan in Eagle Rock police court yesterday City Attorney Rollin L. McNitt made a motion to dismiss the case on the grounds that the present ordinance is so worded that no one in the city would even be allowed to start a fire to burn rubbish in an incinerator.

Judge Cruzan, acting upon the motion of the city attorney, dismissed the case against Chavez, and suggested to the city attorney that immediate steps be taken to redraft the present ordinance. It is understood this will come up before the board of trustees at an early date.

The stay-at-home doesn't have to worry over vacations.

Dahlia City Club Holds Dance Party

About forty Eagle Rock couples enjoyed the dancing party given last evening by the Dahlia City club in the beautiful ballroom of the Twentieth Century Woman's club house.

Antrim's orchestra of Glendale supplied the music. As a surprise Milton T. Hancock, director of the Dahlia City club played several banjo selections.

When making an emergency stop, leave the clutch engaged, apply the foot brake and pull the hand brake; but do not "lock the wheels." Keep the wheels rolling; otherwise there is danger that the car might slide or skid.

Missionary Society to Meet Thursday

The annual meeting of the Missionary society of the Congregational church, of which Mrs. C. W. Young is president, will hold its thanksgiving offering meeting at the home of Mrs. C. A. Kirksey, 210 East Hill avenue, November 16. Mrs. Kirksey has opened her home to the ladies and is serving a 12 o'clock luncheon to the ladies who will come in the morning and sew. Mrs. Kirksey is not a member of the society and is donating everything. Mrs. Pratt, of 245 Ridgeway avenue will be the speaker.

BUILT FOR ETERNITY

When we build, let us think that we build forever. Let is not be for present delight, nor for present use alone. Let it be such work as our descendants will thank us for, and let us think as we lay stone on stone that a time is to come when those stones will be held sacred because our hands have touched them, and that men will say as they look upon the labor and wrought substances of them: "See! This our Fathers did for us!"—John Ruskin.

These words of the celebrated author express the sublime purpose of the builders of Beautiful Grand View —To establish a "Cemetery Beautiful" whose records and inscriptions will perpetuate history and family tradition of present and future generations.

It is to your interest to see the lots in Grand View Memorial Park —and compare the prices we ask with the prices of other cemeteries. Terms made to suit the convenience of purchasers of lots.

Here you will find every service and consideration which should merit your investigation. Our private car is at your service without charge when you wish to visit the grounds.

Glendale Personals

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Collins and daughter, Bernice, of 815 North Louise street, leave today for San Diego where they plan to spend the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Walker and family of 710 East Harvard street, accompanied by their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Goodwin, enjoyed a motor trip today to Fontana.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kramer of 260 North Verdugo road will return Monday from San Diego, where they are spending a week visiting with friends. The trip is being made via automobile.

Mrs. Frances Crittenden of Hot Springs, Ark., has come to Glendale for an indefinite stay with Mrs. Ada Roberts and Mrs. M. K. Smith of 500 North Adams street. Mrs. Crittenden came to California for her health and has decided on Glendale as an ideal location for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hamman, who have resided at 332 Ivy street, are leaving shortly for their former home in Dallas, Texas. They are making the trip by motor. Mr. Hamman has resigned his position as president and manager of the F. A. Clark electrical company, and he and Mrs. Hamman are going back to Texas to make their home.

Dr. Warman Listed on School Program

Dr. E. B. Warman will take part Monday night in the entertainment program to be given at 8 o'clock at the Emerson School of Self-Expression studio at 720 South Glendale avenue. Dr. Warman is announced by the school as the author of a number of books and a clever entertainer. Miss Ella Litch, member of the school faculty, will be hostess of the evening, and Jim Rhodes will act as impresario. The entire program follows:

"National Guards' March," "Enchantment" (Paldi), Gordon Wattle; "Domestic Asides" (Hood) by Mrs. George W. Pierce; "Father's Epitaph at Midnight" by Dr. Maybell Tinkler; "Swing Gardens" by Nellie Aleshire; "The Servant in the House" (Kennedy), from the second act by Henry Hiederman; Dr. E. B. Warman in his own interpretations and entertainment features.

N. M. Cupp, chairman of the recently appointed bowling committee, announced that the following named posts are organizing bowling squads to represent them in the coming Los Angeles County American Legion bowling tournament: Los Angeles, Pasadena, Long Beach, Santa Monica, Hollywood, Glendale, Huntington Park and Highland Park.

The season's play is scheduled to start some time in December, each squad being lined up to face every other team once. The winning squad will be sent to Eureka next year to attend the state convention where they will represent the southern part of the state in the finals. Any ex-service man who desires a tryout for the team should get in touch with Mr. Cupp.

Spohr Says—

Everything that goes to make up an A-1 Drug Store for the public and us, that's our business.

Mr. Cowan has slipped out of regular business space down a few notches but he is going to put us back up in the corner, the same central corner we have in Glendale Brand and Broadway.

We have been gone for a couple of months, mostly to see how the other fellow is doing business and how we can better our own. We went via train, auto and on foot, and never stopped until we took a dip in the other ocean, and when we think of all the different cities and states we were in and comparing them with good old Southern California, we can readily believe what the Literary Digest has been showing us as the whitest or most prosperous spot in the whole U. S. for the past year or more, and indications for the future year are just as good. Of course we visited the United Drug Co. of Boston (Rexall Remedies), the largest of its kind in the U. S., with a Rexall store in every town in the U. S. We are glad to say we are one of the chain with one in Glendale. Pardon us for being a little personal, we started to write an ad, but its all facts, but we returned (and glad to be back), a little more satisfied than ever that Glendale is the choicest little spot on the whole map to be in, for various reasons.

Then we are going to be here at your service three hundred and sixty-five days every year. While we saw many stores that were larger and many smaller, we didn't find any that gave you more for your money—was there with what we call SERVICE—attending to your every day wants, a pleasure to do it, than we found at

SPECIAL CHURCH SERVICE PLANNED

Rev. Rasmus to Give Sermon for Former Soldiers and Sailors on Sunday

The regular weekly meeting of Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion, was held last night in the Legion hall, 610 East Broadway, the principal business being that of making final plans for today's Armistice Day program. Jesse Smith, chairman of the arrangements committee, made a detailed report of the progress made in the preparation of the various features which are to be a part of today's program.

Dru Nicoles, who serves his third consecutive year as grand marshal of the parade, made a final plea for participants, besides announcing the line of march, time of starting and other details regarding today's procession.

As a fitting climax to the Armistice Day celebration for the local Legionnaires, Commander James F. McBryde announced that special patriotic services will be held in the First Methodist church of this city Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock. All ex-service men in the city who are interested in the gathering, which is being conducted by Rev. Rasmus, particularly for the former soldiers and sailors of the community, are requested to be present on the corner of Kenwood and Broadway at 7:15, sharp. From there they will go in a body to the church, where a special section will be reserved for them.

Richardson D. White, superintendent of Glendale schools and a member of the Post, announced that plans are on foot for an appropriate observance of this year's national Education Week, which is to come during the week of December 3 to 10. The week, which is the result of the efforts of the American Legion throughout the country, will be divided into various slogans for different days, some of the days being characterized by the following: "God and Country Day," "Citizens' Day," "Patriots' Day," "Literacy and Physical Education Day," "Schools' and Teachers' Day," and "Equal Educational Rights Day." A detailed description of the plans for the week will be announced at a later date.

Director Albright Wants Opera Talent

E. J. Albright, who is directing a group of local singers in preparing for the presentation of the light opera, "The Mikado" by Gilbert and Sullivan, is still desirous of enrolling more young people in the cast.

In response to his invitation last week several new singers attended the rehearsal Thursday night in the Legion hall on East Broadway. He states that there are places for others and again invites all young people interested to attend the rehearsal next Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

Sacred Musical to Be Given on Sunday at Baptist Church

H. W. CARVER

Under whose direction the choir of the First Baptist church will give a series of sacred musicals.

Under the direction of H. W. Carver, the choir of the First Baptist church will give the first of a series of sacred musicals Sunday night at the church at 7:30 o'clock.

There are thirty-five voices in the choir and the musical tomorrow night is of special interest because it is the first program of its kind given by the choir since Mr. Carver became director. Mr. Carver, who is a recent arrival from Toledo, Ohio, was for three years musical director of the W. A. B. Congregational church, the largest church of the Congregational denomination in the state of Ohio. His ability has been well proven by the success he has attained since becoming director of the local choir. Assisting with the program tomorrow night will be A. Lowinsky, violinist.

Complete Program

The program is announced as: Prelude, "Barcarole" (Nolet); Mrs. Clara Lowinsky, pianist. Scripture and prayer, Rev. Ernest E. Ford. Anthem, "Forward Be Our Watchword" (Miller), choir. Violin solo, "Ave Maria" (Gounod), A. Lowinsky. Quartette, "Jesus Savior Pilot Me" (Schnecker), Mesdames Paul Elliott, Bernice Wonnacott, and C. A. Comfort and Park Arnold. Soprano solo, "The Wearied Hart" (Fuller), Mrs. Ray Bentley. Anthem, "Savior When Night Involves the Sky," choir. Contralto solo, "Open the Gates" (Shelley), Mrs. Bernice Wonnacott, violin obligato by R. E. Olin. Violin solo, "Adagio" (Bruch), A. Lowinsky. Message from Rev. Ford. Anthem, "The King of Love" (Shelly), choir. Shanty solo, "Teach Me to Pray" (Jewett), C. A. Comfort. Anthem, "Ye That Stand in the House" (Spinney), choir. Postlude, "Hymn to the Eternal" (Concone), Mrs. Clara Lowinsky.

MUSICAL CONCERT HELD LAST NIGHT

Pupils of Mrs. Curran and Miss Linkogel Perform for Big Gathering

Mrs. Pearl Curran and Miss Hazel Linkogel presented a number of their piano and violin pupils in a very pleasing recital Friday night at the music studio of Mrs. Curran, 214 East Chestnut street. A pretty setting of palms and flowers made the hall festive in honor of the seventy-five or more guests who gathered to honor the young artists, many of whom were making their first public appearance.

Mrs. Verna S. Mitchell, of the Labadie School of Expression, gave one of her delightful "Bedtime Stories" as a special treat to the guests and presented one of her pupils, Evelyn Peebles, who read "Daisy's Music Practice Hour." The two readings gave a touch of variety to the musical program and were highly appreciated by both the children and their friends.

The complete program follows: Dance of the Elves.....Gaynor Arpeggio Waltz.....Crawford—Dorothy Allen Robins Lullaby.....Krogman—Oswald Bunting Indians.....Bilbo—Florence Fernstermacher Violin Solo.....Bilbo—Waldo Forrester Waltz in F Major.....Bilbo—Ruth Reed

PICTURE STAR IS ILL
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—Baby Peggy Montgomery, infant motion picture star, who has been ill for two days, was reported "about the same" today, with no marked degree of improvement. No definite diagnosis of the case has yet been made.

"Baby Peggy" became ill when searching for her lost pet dog which had tramped through wet weeds. Fever and chills soon developed. The little girl is said to have unusually good health for a youngster of her age and every hope is held that she will come through all danger within a few days.

DON'T TORMENT YOURSELF

"I never can forgive myself" the idea. "She isn't strong enough," they said. "It would be altogether too much for her. She might go to pieces." I didn't believe that it would have that effect. Happiness seldom does, to my way of thinking. Enjoyment gives you an extra supply of strength. But I was finally overcome. And what happened? The dear lady didn't have the trip but she did have the breakdown. She would have had it anyway but do you suppose I could ever have convinced anyone of that if we had had our way. Surely not. They would have said the trip had caused the breakdown just as they prophesied. Yet it would not have caused it at all. Perhaps it might have even averted it. Who knows? Maybe We Shall Find Out Someday.

This whole business of what causes what is a very mixed up matter. We say critically that this or that wouldn't have happened if someone hadn't done this or that. And sometimes we are right. And sometimes we are utterly wrong. We never can know surely—at least not in this life. Maybe in the next we shall be allowed to ask the answer to some of these problems from an intelligence that knows all about cause and effect.

In the meantime it seems to me that the only wise thing to do is to act with the best judgment along this same line in my own life. I wanted to take a certain dear old lady on a trip she had wanted all her life to take.

"I Told You So" But—

I had a very striking experience along this same line in my own life. I wanted to take a certain dear old lady on a trip she had wanted all her life to take.

Tomato Soup—Cook four cups canned tomatoes with two cups stock or hot water, ten peppercorns, a bit of bay leaf, three whole cloves and two slices of onion. Fifteen minutes, force through a strainer and add one teaspoon sugar, one teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon soda. Melt three tablespoons butter, add two tablespoons flour and cook one minute, then add one thickened and smooth, add remaining soup. Serve with croutons.

Broiled Steak—Wipe a porterhouse steak (or other tender cut) with a cloth wrung out of cold water and trim off superfluous fat. Place on broiler and sear both sides carefully (to prevent the escape of juices). Reduce the gas flame and cook more slowly until done to suit individual preference. Steaks cut one inch thick (and steaks are not juicy when cut thinner) will require five minutes, if liked rare; eight minutes if liked well done. Remove to hot plate, add salt and

SMALL BLEMISHES.

It always seems a great pity to me that an otherwise attractive girl should have even so slight a disfigurement as a wart or mole on her face. It's more trying, really than to have some serious blemish. The great tragedies of life are easily borne, it is the small ones that takes it out of one's temper. Remember the story of Job and the affliction of boils.

A small affliction which is hard to bear is a wart. Children seem to collect them, thereby giving credence to the old tale that hops picked up in the hand will bring on a crop of them. With children and sometimes with grown-ups these queer little collections of brown pigment will come as mysteriously as they will disappear. If one has patience time will be the healer in this as in other cases. However, the young girl whose pretty complexion is marred by a wart wants something more definite than this.

Superstition says that bathing warts with the sticky milky juice of the milk-weed will make them disappear. Superstition sometimes says this should be done secretly and by moonlight, but naturally no grown-up believes that. Another tradition-honored remedy is salt. In this I personally have great faith. I have known many warts to be cured by repeated rubbings with hot olive oil and common table salt.

The ugly hairy wart which stands out from the skin is easy to cure. A bit of silk tied round

When sending for material are not strong, it is impossible to which we offer you, please re-member always to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining weight is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper and please remember that, on account of the hundreds of letters received in every mail I cannot make personal replies. I appreciate very much the beautiful personal letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest; for the rest you must consult your personal physicians.

I have had very many letters asking more information on the floor exercises I gave you for the stonic abdominal walls. I am asked if they will help varicose veins and if they will be good for mild hernias. I am asked if it will be all right to put the feet under a dresser or something to hold them down while the exercises are being done, and how can they be done without using the hands.

I rather think that they will be good for varicose veins and for the hernias. The hernias especially. Hernias are due to a separation of the muscles of the abdominal wall; and anything that would strengthen and enlarge the muscles would seem logically to help close the opening. Although it probably would not in one of long standing or a large one. An operation should be performed for those.

It is not a dangerous operation in skillful hands. The danger from a hernia lies in the fact that the intestines may become twisted and blocked in the opening. If the wall of the abdomen

One of our followers wrote me that she was doing that very little thing you say you felt like doing. She said that she had been so markedly benefited in health and looks that she felt that she could be of no better service to humanity than to tell others how she did it. She said she was terribly rebuffed at times, but usually her efforts were very gratefully received and they made up for the rebuffs. She has more courage than I have.

Book Reviews

Children's week at the Glendale Branch Library, November 12-18, will be featured by an exhibit of very choice new books on Christmas, Christmas gifts, and the distribution of well annotated lists including these books and others with the publisher and price of each.

The books in this exhibit will not be placed in circulation until after Christmas, so that they may be of service to all in making their selections for Christmas gifts.

Among the new things at the library one of unique interest is "Love and Friendship," by Jane Austen, that pioneer of the modern novel. It consists of sketches and letters written during the early part of her life and printed from manuscript quite recently discovered. An interesting feature of the book is the decoration of the end sheets consisting of portraits of noted persons reproduced from miniatures painted by one of Miss Austen's sisters.

"Up the Mazaruni for Diamonds," by LaVarre is an interesting account of travel, adventure and diamond mining in South America.

"My Lady of the Chinese Courtyard," by Elizabeth Cooper, gives an excellent picture of the social life of the better classes in China.

"Alaska Man's Luck" and "My Alaskan Idyll," by Rutbeck, are the real story of the author's pioneer experience and his love romance in the north country.

"The Northward Course of Empire," by Spemann, deals with the same region.

A new book of games and parties by Walcott is full of original ideas for entertaining.

"Atolls of the Sun," is said to be the best of O'Brien's books thus far.

HOME QUESTIONS RECEIVE ANSWERS

Thinking of Buying? Here
Are Some Hints Relative to Making Purchase

By DONALD R. GILLIN
Of Bentley-Schoenman Lumber Co.
How much should a man pay for a home? either to build or to buy? That is often asked by prospective builders or purchasers. The division of building and housing of the United States department of commerce has attempted to answer this question.

The people of Glendale, may, for example, take the following problem which begins with the assertion that a man may own a home worth one and one-half his annual income.

That sounds easy, but the government experts throw out the caution that the payments to be made the first few years are the points to be given serious consideration. Rent ordinarily requires from 10 per cent to 20 per cent and often more of a family's income.

A man who earns $2000 buys a home with a lot costing $4000. He pays $1000 cash down and obtains a loan or assumes a contract, or both, for $3000, or 5 per cent of the property, from a building and loan association, or private party as the case may be. Exclusive of any depreciation, the cost per year will be somewhat as follows, varying slightly in different localities:

Payments on $3000 building and loan shares at one-half per cent monthly, or 6 per cent annually, $180; interest on $3000 loan at 6 per cent, $180; interest on $1000 at 5 per cent, $50; taxes $75; insurance, $5; upkeep at 1 1/2 per cent, $60. A total of $550 can then be proportioned by the month, or $45.83. The actual monthly payment, of course, will be slightly less, as the buyer will not pay himself the actual $50 interest on his initial payment.

Putting it another way $550 represents 27 1/2 per cent of the $2000 income, divided as follows: Rent, 18 1/2 per cent; savings, 9 per cent. An arrangement of this nature will pay off the loan in about twelve years and the home will be owned free and clear.

The buyer should insist that the seller furnish papers, to show a good, marketable title, in California the papers may be placed in escrow, title guaranteed by title company, making sure there are no old mortgages, no unpaid back taxes, or bills for building materials or other claims against the property. The buyer assumes taxes and special assessments for installation of water, sewerage, electric lights, gas or other public utilities, or street paving.

Therefore always make it a point to see that all such improvements have already been made, or that the risk from loss by fire or the

REALTY FIRM TO OPEN NEW TRACT.

Advance Sale of O'Neil Property
Announced by Hamlin & Hepburn

At different times in the past several months article have been printed by men familiar with the early history of Glendale reminding us that it is only a few years ago when Brand boulevard was in a barley field; all the territory west of Brand was either a vineyard or orchard, and when Glendale itself was located at the corner of Glendale and Wilson avenues. This is exceedingly interesting information and is valuable to us just in proportion as we use it to look ahead, it is what the future will be and what values will have materialized in the year 1930 and 1940.

It does not take a prophet to ascertain at this time that the whole territory between Glendale and the center of Burbank will be built up practically solid before 1930. When one stops to consider the absolutely wonderful changes that have taken place in the year and a half between the year 1910 and the year 1920, it is not hard to appreciate that another year or two will witness still greater developments and larger advances in prices.

Announce Advance Sale
Hamlin & Hepburn are announcing the advance sale of their eleventh unit, located between Glenwood and Kenneth roads. This is the property which they purchased from the estate of the late James O'Neill, the actor, who had held it for more than thirty years.

This property, one of the few pieces still available for subdivision in this section, was purchased by Hamlin & Hepburn at an advantageous price which enables them to offer lots in the eleventh unit at a very low figure.

UNFILLED STEEL ORDERS
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The United States Steel corporation, in its monthly statement, issued today, reported unfilled orders on its books as of October 31 last, of 6,902,287 tons, against 6,691,607 tons on September 30; an increase of 210,680 tons.

elements should be assumed by the seller until title passes to the buyer. The buyer should also ascertain about any easements that may exist, such as the right of telephone companies to put poles on the property.

First mortgages are not usually not difficult to place, and the interest rate in Glendale on modern residential property is 7 per cent. Second mortgages are not such a good investment and a higher rate of interest will have to be paid. Banks loan up to 50 per cent of their appraisal on a first mortgage, not 50 per cent of what you say or what you think the property may be worth.

INTERIOR AND EXTERIOR LINES OF HOME PROVE BIG IMPORTANCE WHEN DECORATING IS STARTED

Real Character Should Be Reflected By Building; Rooms Will Lend
Themselves to Right Treatment; Do Not Permit Colors to Run Riot

Every man, woman and high school child knows the importance of the lines of suits, dresses, coats and headgear, but judging from what we see in the majority of homes it is only the select who have a glimmering notion that vertical lines and horizontal lines; short and long lines; curved lines or straight ones; willowy and energetic ones; lines that are delicate and lines that are heavy should be discriminated, the one from the other with great nicety. Did you ever see a short fat woman with the lines of her costume all running east and west, or a tall, thin one with all lines passing from pole to pole? With a little laying on of bad judgment you may make your home look quite as ridiculous.

Unity Inside and Out
If the architect who planned your home has done his work well—and an increasing number of them are doing their work very intelligently, even though so many of them do not bring themselves to acknowledge that utility and beauty always go hand in hand—he has made all lines, those of the exterior and those of the interior compatible, not only with each other but also with the general character of the whole building, and these in turn perfectly consonant with the lines of the locality. Your delightful and fascinating task then is to furnish your house in keeping with the general line scheme of the architect. You could not be guilty of placing long curtains at short windows, or half curtains at tall windows. Neither can you spoil splendid floor spaces by dotting them with furniture, especially with insignificant furniture, your good judgment will not allow you to cover beautiful wall spaces with many pictures, especially if the pictures, each one in itself, have not real charm.

Would you place a long couch or a davenport under a narrow window, or a tiny table under a long window? Would you place a large rug in a small room and small furniture in large rooms? Will vertically striped wallpaper accentuate the height of a room; and will large figured paper detract from it? Should the sweeping line of a large mantel-piece be broken by numerous objects placed upon it? Would you furnish a house that has French casement windows and doors with squat mission furniture, or would you put Louis Quinze furniture into a Spanish colonial type of house? To perpetrate any of these crimes here suggested would warrant your architect's executing a fine frenzy. To be brief, having a house in order means something more than keeping it "tidy." Fine housekeeping must have much of the aesthetic about it, just as fine morality means more than simply refraining from thieving and lying.

Not Permitted to Run Riot
There is another side of this question of line that we must not neglect. There must not be too great multiplication of line. Lines have a very definite mission and if we keep this in mind we'll be apt to make but few mistakes. Their mission is this: they are to direct the eye, not to fill it. The most of us are rather annoyed at a jail window effect. Such an effect does truly hamper our freedom if excessively indulged in. Lines that continually change their direction, or give a chopped effect grow very wearisome. The woman who moved from Kansas to Colorado and then complained that there was nothing to look at because the mountains were in the way is the most extreme exponent of the foregoing doctrine of whom I have heard, yet I half believe she sensed the grandeur of long, unbroken lines in a fuller sense than a change, think of this single-visioned woman wondering sometimes and get rid of all short fussy lines.

If the most of the lines of your decorations are straight—and most of them should be straight—it is not easy to blend with them a few curved lines for the sake of variety, but it is a most satisfactory thing to do. There is restful, quiet strength, clarity in straight lines, but in the curved line there is equal value. Who would willingly dispense with the subtle charm, the softness, the gentleness, the happy graciousness of the curved line? If you haven't one of those round windows that our soldier architects brought back from France with them, or at any rate a window or door with a round top, have an oval or round picture or mirror of not too small dimensions on your walls. A large space between windows or over the fireplace is in general the best location for such an ornament as it gets the prominence it demands. One or two chairs with curved backs may answer the same purpose. If your spaces are large a rather massive jar that may be used for them, and which is very satisfactory in carrying out the same idea. If large figures in draperies or hangings of any sort are to be used to add variety in line, or for the immediate introduction of curved lines, I advise most careful thought regarding all the lines of the pattern. Too many down curving lines are wilting, dispiriting; too much upturning of lines may be disquieting. If you cannot afford to buy high grade materials at least take care of the floor comes into our line of life study of their work. This will aid you greatly in choosing the best among the lower-priced goods.

Are Carpets Your Waterloo?
Carpets are frequently the downfall of home furnishings. This must be in part the fault of carpet manufacturers, since there are so many bad ones that may be bought. Yet it is partly due to the fact that so much more of the floor comes into our line of vision than of the walls or ceiling. But we have learned to dress our walls and ceiling with a great deal of quiet propriety. It is high time we cultivated an acquaintance with floor ethics. The subject of carpets is such a large one that a general discussion of them will have to be left to a later article. Now, I wish to speak of them in relation to the subject under discussion.

Due to line and space effect no floor looks so well fully carpeted as it does with a rug. In moderately large rooms, two or three rugs may be used with a good effect—always remembering to avoid a spotted effect introduced by too many rugs. Bare floor space is much better than too many coverings. Unfortunately one tone rugs are not very practical, as they become tracked very quickly. But their general effect makes a good guide for the choosing of figured rugs. Prominent lines should not be short. In saying that we have, of course, debarred large patterned floor coverings. Almost everyone who has passed an extremely youthful stage knows that generalities are dangerous and are avoided by the wise. Now we all might think of carpets or rugs with large patterns that should be chosen in preference to any other for certain purposes. But to shut such a floor covering in a small or moderately sized house would be comparable to a bull in a china shop. There surely would be trouble. When broken lines are confined to small figures perfect harmony may result, and the rug having such a pattern will be content to lie flat on the floor, and will not call loudly for attention.

Color and Attitude
Now that we are down on the floor let us work upward with color as a motive for upward progression. Nature has so accustomed us to a relatively dark ground and light sky that we feel upset with any other arrangement. What would our sensations be if we had white floors and dark ceilings? Always we should feel that the ceiling was about to descend upon us. To illustrate effectively it is usually necessary to exaggerate slightly. If you keep the illustration just given in mind, the coloring of floor, walls and ceiling is an easy matter. Not many grave mistakes are made along these lines, yet I'm sure we have all seen rooms that have been largely spoiled by wide dark borders of color on the walls near the ceiling. Also we frequently see floors that are painted or carpeted in too light a color.

There is another very important principle in relation to color that we should have always in mind. It is this, bright colors such as orange move forward in space, deep ones such as some blues and violets recede. Notice in pictures that a good artist never uses orange for an object that belongs to the background of his picture, just as he does not use violet in the foreground. A most practical use of this principle may be made in applying wall colors. If you wish your room to appear large use receding colors, if you wish it to seem cozy use the advancing colors. These colors also have the characteristics of coolness and warmth.

Color Has Character
Do you know any of those people who complain because puppies are not so sedate as old toothless dogs, or who admonish little boys (with a stick) to keep their clothes clean? They are just the people who furnish sunny rooms with dark brown and grays, and who "brighten up" north rooms with all the brilliant colors they can lay their hands on. The dominant note in such a room is struggle. Let sunny rooms be frankly sunny; your north rooms genuinely calm and clear. Give them beautiful blues, lavenders, grays with these two tones in them (not the dead grays), creamy whites, very soft greens. Let these characterize the room. After that no harm can be done by introducing low values of brighter colors in moderate quantities. As already indicated, use in your sunlit rooms any of the bright colors that you like best. Here your greatest difficulty will come in attempting to juxtapose colors that do not harmonize, and in using tones that are crude. For instance, reds and yellows do not harmonize easily, whereas lavender and yellow are very charming when used together. Also red with green is to be avoided. On the other hand, whether it be in dull or bright rooms we wish to use it, there is one color for which we should all be grateful since it blends well with almost any color. This is blue, especially in its stronger tones. I have spoken about the receding quality of blue and also its appropriateness for north rooms, but I see no reason for suffering from the obsession that most interior decorators do that blue is a cold color and not suited to a sunny living-room. It is my experience that the strong shades of the bright blues are highly inspring without any of the irritating qualities of red and orange. It is certainly the psychology of the color that induces so many men and women to choose it for their clothing. And the majority of us do not like dispiriting and cold colors. Anyway we offer a bold challenge to anyone to prove that there are more mistakes made from an overindulgence in blue in decoration than in any other color. In a whisper I advise you that blue is almost or rather altogether fool proof. Don't be afraid of it. Green is another of our safe colors, its color value raised or lowered to suit the application to be made of it. Red is the most difficult of all of the colors to handle. It is so easy to overdo red. Yet American Beauty red, old rose, and various other softened tones we would not willingly do without. The reds used in allegories and hints are altogether charming, especially if they are used in conjunction with wicker furniture. All your discriminatory powers must be in full play if you decide to introduce red into your home furnishings, for no one's determination not to "think red" will alter the fact that red is a very decided agent of excitation. If your family is decidedly phlegmatic perhaps they need it.

IMPORTANT CHANGES?
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The decision by Ambassador Jusserand of France to meet former Premier Clemenceau upon his arrival in New York was believed here today to foreshadow important changes in the character of M. Clemenceau's speeches through the United States. Previous announcements have indicated that "the Tiger" not only would not spare M. Poincare, present head of the French government, but that he also might deal in pointed fashion with some of the policies of the Harding administration.

AUXILIARY GAINS COIN BY POETRY

Legion Women Prove They Are Clever at Writing and Earn Dollars

Glendale women of the American Legion Auxiliary, who participated in the patriotic parade today, demonstrated recently their ability and cleverness by earning dollars for the Auxiliary treasury and writing poetical descriptions of how the dollars were earned.

The dollars were deposited in the treasury at the last meeting of the organization and at that time the clever, poetical contributions were read.

Among the more entertaining ones was one, "The Dime Diggers' Song of Joy," a description of how two of the members earned more than one dollar each. The poem reads:

"Will you walk into our parlor?"
Said the 'Dime Diggers' one day;
"We will have things to sell you
For which you'll have to pay.
But after you have purchased
All that we have to sell,
We'll seat you in our dining-room
And there we'll treat you well.
Our 'hermits' and our 'jumbies'
Nobody can exceed.
And you may have all that you want
Beyond what you may need."

We sold all of our pies and cakes
And much of other food,
When counting up our net receipts
The whole result was good.
We give with greatest pleasure
This sum to Mrs. Kelley
Made from the sale of cake, meat loaf
Nut bread and tea and jelly.

The Price of Eggs
But speaking of the high cost of living and the price of eggs one rhyme goes:
Eggs are scarce and eggs are high
To sell some eggs I thought I'd try.
My family's fond of ham and eggs
But when the American Legion begs
I just let my family holler
And sold some eggs to earn a dollar.

A Modest Confession
Another modest confession was voiced in these lines:
One day at our Auxiliary
An order came for you and me
That each a dollar sure must earn
For which our treasury did yearn.
So I made up my mind that I
Would make some lemon meringue pie.

These I disposed of easily
For a dollar for our treasury.
Now don't you think I'm quite a poet,
Yet I, myself, did never know it.
Another brave attempt
Another brave attempt went like this:

Of much money I'm never flush
It's hard to find it in a rush,
But I can try

ROMANCE HOVERS OVER OLD HILLS

Chief Sagamore Once Ruled
Tribe Near Eagle Rock;
New Subdivision

Glendale and Eagle Rock sections hold the early romantic history of the Spanish settlers and the Indian tribes. The story of these people in the early years of California history is not only interesting reading but fascinating romance.

Among the old Indian tribes that inhabited this vicinity was one ruled by Chief Sagamore. In the hills near Eagle Rock this tribe lived. What is now the Sagamore hill is where the wigwam was of the old chief. The little spring flowing in one of the canyons that gave water to the tribe is to be cleaned out and become one of the attractions in the beautiful ten-acre park being offered by Wesley Roberts to the city of Eagle Rock.

Little do we think of the misty past. And yet over much time and through the canyons roamed wonderful people. They were the true examples of the healthy sunshine and salt sea breezes.

They Live Longer
It is claimed by a noted physician, who has given much time to research work, that the old Indians who inhabited southern California, lived fifty years longer than any other Indians inhabiting North America. He claimed that as late as 1895 he visited northwestern Lower California where Indians still live, and interviewed some old members of their tribes, who recall as young men the time they helped to build the San Diego mission.

These Indians had lived here generation after generation, and had passed down to their posterity the full benefit of this famed climate. Is there any wonder we believe in it?

Wesley Roberts owns the 240 acres known as Sagamore Hills. The old Verdugo road is the western boundary. The property covers four blocks south of Colorado avenue. While Mr. Roberts is subdividing that which lies along the Verdugo road, he also is placing on the market some choice lots known as Sagamore Oaks, which overlooks the valley. This property is as fine as can be located. The advertisement of this particular property appears in this issue. It is well worth reading.

To dig up a dollar before I die
For the Auxiliary.
To work for money I'm no good
I'd like to, but I never could.
But I can beg
Or get my hen to lay an egg
For the Auxiliary.

There was but one member who presented her dollar without rhyme. However, she stated in free verse that she had deprived herself and her husband of dessert and pie to the amount of one dollar.

GREAT ACTIVITY AT SPARR HEIGHTS

Work Now Confined to Parks and Boulevards; Lots
Are Selling Fast

Great activity is beginning to show itself at Sparr Heights in the way of development. The engineers have practically completed their work in establishing street and grade lines, and the teams are at work in the first unit with plows and scrapers. Contracts have been let for the cement work and everybody is busy. This activity, from now on, will be continuous and more intensive for the comprehensive plans of the management will require the employment of large forces in construction of the elaborate boulevards, parkways, etc.

Work will soon begin on the golf course and will be pushed vigorously until completed. It is expected that the Oakmont Club House will be completed and the course in condition by January 1.

Membership Will Be Large
This club will prove a most attractive feature in the social life of Glendale. The membership will comprise some 750 and will be made up of those prominent in social circles in this vicinity. The club house will be the center for many interesting functions and will be one of many features designed to create a high class atmosphere that will make Sparr Heights attractive to those who desire exclusive homes. The sale of lots in the first unit, which comprises the bungalow and business section, is progressing finely, and those who contemplate securing a bungalow site at Sparr Heights will have to act quickly.

Issue Statement
The Francis-Barnum-Walters Co., the owners and subdividers, have issued a guarantee to the effect that "improvements consisting of hard-surfaced streets, curbs, sidewalks, electric light, water and gas mains will be installed in Sparr Heights without additional expense to purchasers of all lots, nor will there ever be any assessments against the property to cover the cost of these original installations."

This is an assurance that the promise that two million dollars will be spent in improvements will be carried out, as it will require fully that amount to build the roads and install the public utilities over this immense acreage.

WAY THROUGH GERMANY.
MOSCOW, Nov. 11.—"The way to world revolution lies through Germany," declared Commissioner Zinoviev in addressing the fourth congress of the third international.
"The American communist party has great obstacles to fight. Only within the past few weeks have we been able to send Vatsky, our first delegate, to America."

Will You Still Be Waiting After Prices Have Gone Up Again?

When the peak of prices on residence property was reached two years ago, hundreds of people balked. They said that prices were bound to come down—that material and labor costs must eventually be readjusted—that these costs affecting the prices on new homes, would, when lowered, bring a decline in prices on ALL Real Estate. Those people were wrong. For the past 18 months or two years, the costs entering into the production of homes have not declined and Real Estate has steadily advanced.

You folks who have waited, have, of course, sacrificed the pleasure and satisfaction of the kind of home you have wanted. Some of you have paid out anywhere from $600 to $3,000 in rent, for which you have nothing tangible to show.

Granting that the man who waited was just cautious, the same judgment should tell him when waiting ceases to be profitable. There is a time when waiting can become expensive. The truly wise will take care that they do not wait too long.

Good, high class, well-built and well located residence property in Glendale will never be cheaper than now.

The prices of today are almost abnormally low.

The pendulum is already beginning its upward sweep from the low point in home costs. Prices on residence property and vacant lots are steadily on the incline.

The nation's business has turned the corner. Gradually, but surely, prosperity is coming back. Authorities on economics and finance everywhere have said that this is so. Indications of a positive character on every hand, prove that it is true. The time for waiting is past. The time for buying is here.

You who have long waited for the low point; you who have yearned for the home you've wanted so long; you who have the money to buy, once convinced that prices are now right, take care you don't wait too long. Act on your judgment—buy Real Estate now.

Electricians Show Sun's Next Rival

BOSTON.—A 300,000 kilowatt incandescent lamp having a capacity of about 60,000 candle power, the largest lamp of its kind ever manufactured, was shown for the first time at the convention of the Illuminating Engineering Society at Swampscott.

The electric power to operate three such lamps would run a trolley car. It is said the light from them is the nearest to sunlight yet achieved artificially.

DE VALERA AGAIN ESCAPES
LONDON, Nov. 11.—Eamon de Valera, leader of the Irish republicans, had a second narrow escape from capture in less than a week and Erskine Childers, one of his chief aides, was captured, said a Dublin dispatch today.

The capture was made at Wicklow, south of Dublin. Childers commanded the irregulars who seized the cable stations on the west coast of Ireland.

Nevada Bachelor Is Hope Chest Winner

WINNEMUCCA, Nev.—Ormond Bell, bachelor resident of Winnemucca, is wondering what to do with a "hope chest," he won at a bazaar held by the local altar society of the Catholic church. The chest was fitted with dainty lingerie and other mysteries dear to the feminine heart.

Friends have advised Bell to abandon his single life and secure a guardian for his new treasures.

MESSAGE FROM WILSON.

"Thank you warmly for your message. I am glad that you think I was, in some way, connected with the victories of Tuesday. Greetings to all loyal Democrats."

'HUP' MOTOR CAR MAKING 'SPORTS'

New Model Will Be Displayed at Auto Show in Los Angeles Today

"Yielding to the demand of the public, the Hupmobile Motor Car corporation is now putting out a new sport model 'Hup,' in both the touring and the roadster. It is the same chassis as the standard model car, which has thousands of operators in the United States."

This is the announcement that was issued yesterday by Bartlett & French, local distributors for the Hupmobile car. With the statement was an announcement by James H. French, member of the firm, to the effect that the new "sports" will have its initial California showing at the Tenth Annual Auto Show, which opens at Prager Park, Grand avenue and Washington boulevard, Los Angeles, today.

"All motor lovers of Glendale, especially prospective ones, should avail themselves of the opportunity of visiting the big show," Mr. French stated.

"It will be the biggest undertaking of its kind ever attempted in the west, and what's more, I feel that once motorists get a survey of our new car we can pretty nearly depend upon them placing an order for one."

"In equipment the 'sports' has all the very latest appliances and all the innovations in sport accessories."

Mr. French said that just as soon as the factory can deliver his order he will have the new models on exhibition in the firm's showrooms at 107 East Colorado street. He thinks this will be shortly after the auto show in Los Angeles.

Winter In East Aid to Coast's Dealers

DETROIT, Nov. 11.—Not only has the increased production of the motor-car factories helped the Pacific Coast dealers, but they are also being benefited by the winter season, which always reduces sales volume in the east and middle west.

More cars are being shipped west than at any previous time in 1922, which means records of automobile freight traffic on the railways.

Trainload after trainload is being pulled out of the manufacturing centers labeled Los Angeles and San Francisco, the Southern California city getting the lion's share as usual, because of the greater demand in that section.

NEW NASH SPORTS NOW ON MARKET

Model Will Be Displayed at Glendale Nash Sales Plant In Few Weeks

"A durable car equipped with everything but the license," is the slogan attached to the new sports model Nash by E. B. Sutton, general manager of the Glendale Nash Sales, local Nash distributors.

Mr. Sutton said that while shipments of the new "sports" began October 1, it is a difficult task to estimate just when his order will be delivered. As the factory can furnish the new model only in limited quantities this year, he says it is doubtful whether the supply will begin to meet the demand.

Possibly the first showing of the new car in this region will be effected at the Tenth Annual Auto Show, which will be held in Prager Park, Los Angeles, from November 11 to November 19. Following their exhibition there, Mr. Sutton says he expects his order for new "sports" will have arrived for display on the floors of his salesrooms at 112 South Maryland avenue.

"One of the very latest appliances on the car," he described, "is a special tool to lift the spare tire off and install on axle without lifting the wheel. It is done so simply and easy that any woman can make the tire change without effort. The Nash sports with the disc wheel is the only car thus equipped."

"The body of the car is swung low to the road. In short, the new Nash Sport model is so excellent in point of performance and so attractive in appearance that its reception on the part of the public indicates it will have special precedence in the fine car field. It is equipped with the Nash perfected valve-in-head motor, easy riding springs and possesses all those features that have won for Nash so distinguished a position in the automobile industry."

Efficiency Increased Through Automobile

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Bankers and manufacturers have their efficiency increased 33 per cent by the use of the automobile, according to an investigation conducted by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. Contractors benefit 51 per cent; farmers, 68 per cent; school supervisors, 72 per cent; clergymen, 93 per cent; doctors, 104 per cent; real estate and insurance men, 112 per cent.

ADVANCE SALE 11th UNIT

FAIRVIEW

Large Lots as Low as $650 $25 Cash $15 Per Mo.

Our 10th Unit being three-fourths sold, we are now taking advance reservations in our 11th Unit. This is a wonderful piece of property, located between Glenwood road and Kenneth road, both of which will be paved boulevards in a few months, and directly on Allen avenue, one of the main through streets from the floor of the valley to the mountains. A very fortunate purchase enables us to offer this property at prices way under its present value. This is the story:

Some 32 years ago the eminent actor, James O'Neill, who made fame and fortune for himself in "Monte Cristo," on one of his trips to Los Angeles, bought from the old Provident Land & Water Co., this ten acres of land which now constitutes our 11th Unit. Mr. O'Neill bought other property all over the United States and at the time of his death probably did not know how many pieces he owned. The attorneys for his estate located at New London, Conn., had a big piece of work to negotiate the sale of all these widely scattered pieces of property and were very anxious to take what they considered a reasonable offer. To make a long story short, the 11th Unit was a most fortunate purchase and the advantage which we derived thereby we are passing on to purchasers of lots.

We can state positively that there will never be lots offered again in the whole northwest section at as low prices:

The more we compare values the more we realize that the prices at which we have sold lots and are now selling lots, are exceedingly low and that these prices will never prevail again. It will only be a short time until nothing in this section can be purchased for under One Thousand Dollars and corners will run up to Two Thousand.

DON'T MISS THIS OPPORTUNITY

Do you know that Glendale is the fastest growing city in America? Do you know that building lots are getting scarce in Glendale? Do you know that $25 cash down as an initial payment on a lot is very exceptional.

Buy a lot in the 11th Unit of Fairview while there are a few left. A choice location on a beautiful slope, close to transportation, fine soil, magnificent view, water, gas and electricity, in a section where the momentum of the development already under way assures an increase in value.

Here is the creed of the Unbuilt house!
Believe in it!
I am the Unbuilt House.
Build me, therefore, into a Home.

Build me with loving hands, with eager heart. And build me to stand shelter over you—day after day, through the long nights of winter and the torrid days of the southern summers, under the sun and rain.

Build me of good material. For I shall be your haven and your children's haven. Build me so I may grow old gracefully. I will then be a prized possession to be handed down to your posterity in the secure knowledge that I will prove a valued legacy.

Build me strong—and beautiful. Let me sit back from the road, a figure of repose, reflecting character without presumption, dignity without restraint, cheery warmth without effusion.

Let me express the good taste of you who dwell within me.

Clothe me in color that is in harmony with my surroundings; and let Nature breathe in wherever it may reach. The protection of trees, the affection of vines, the warm smile of flowers—these things I need in abundance.

And then, let the friendly welcome of the latchstring trace its joyous way through every room. Let me have sunshine, and light and laughter; and the patter of tiny feet.

Build me to live in. Make of me no museum for carefully guarded antiquities. No house can be beautiful unless it is useful; no house can be a home without a heap of living in it. Let me be a home.

I will influence you. I will stimulate you. I will help you be successful. I will bring out the best that is in you. I will be your home. Your children will be born here, grow up here, will live their happy days with me. I will be an inviolate possession; beyond my doors none may come save those you desire. I will be an inextinguishable part of your memories, swinging with you along the arc of time.

Build me now, while the years are young—while we both can be happy and useful members of a fine community. Build me for your own good, for your family, for your town, your community, your nation.

I am the Unbuilt House.
Build me, therefore, into your Home.

UNUSUAL SHOWING OF WILLYS-KNIGHT LOCAL TIRE FIRM HAS NEW SERVICE

Car With Visible Motor In Operation Displayed at Los Angeles Show

In order to give the general public an idea of what is making the Willys-Knight car so popular with the motoring public, especially owners and drivers, George T. Smith, Glendale agent for the Willys-Knight and Overland automobiles, is promoting a display at the automobile show in Los Angeles which shows a working model of the Willys-Knight in operation.

One of the features of the display is that auto enthusiasts are given an opportunity of surveying the car while it is in operation, and while all operations of the motor are visible. Mr. Smith was assisted by the Overland-Willys Pacific Company in working out the idea of the novel exhibition.

Mr. Smith says that the demonstration will prove the contention of the Willys-Knight slogan—"Improves With Use." Further, he asserts, it will show how carbon has been made the greatest aid to the motor in place of the usual loss of power in the poppet valve motor.

The Willys-Knight booth at the show will also display all of the latest models of the Willys-Knight, including the new seven-passenger sedan with the disc wheels.

Mr. Smith announces in conjunction with the foregoing that R. L. Dell, personal representative of Barker Bros., has just taken delivery of a Willys-Knight coupe with disc wheels from his firm. Formerly he operated a Willys-Knight roadster.

The ease of operation, the dependability of car, together with the small cost of maintenance were ascribed by Mr. Dell as his reasons for choosing the Willys-Knight.

RAIN WATER IS BEST

Not all car owners know that pure rain water is the best that can be used in the cooling system. This is because it is free from mineral substances, which are present in ordinary water and which are deposited on the metal walls of the radiator, piping, jackets, etc., to their detriment. When rain water is available always use it.

Automobile Tire Company to Inaugurate Drive-In Privilege for Trade

A drive-in service for the changing of automobile tires will be maintained by the Automobile Tire Company of California, Inc., throughout the rainy season, according to an announcement made yesterday by C. H. Montgomery, local manager.

The Glendale plant of the tire firm, which is branch No. 9 of twelve stores operated in Southern California, is located at 143 South Brand boulevard.

Coincident with this announcement, Mr. Montgomery stated yesterday that his firm is disposing of a small lot of Federal Rugged Tread tires at a greatly reduced price. Out of three carloads of this make tire which were received by his firm three weeks ago, he says only a small number remain on hand.

The federal rugged tread make has been on the tire market for a great many years. It is produced by the Federal Rubber Company, of Cudahy, Wis., which is discontinuing the latter tire for a newer creation.

Ford Touring Car Offered As Prize

How many seeds in a pumpkin?

Ed N. Radke, the jeweler whose shop is located at 109 South Brand boulevard, says that it depends whose pumpkin it is.

Today he is placing a large yellow 150-pound "cucurbita pepo" in his display window. Between now and Christmas all customers will be given an opportunity to guess the number of seeds it contains.

Because of the fact that there is no possibility of anyone knowing before hand the number of seeds in a pumpkin before it is split open, Mr. Radke is much pleased with the prospect of this contest.

The winner will be given a Ford touring car in which to "tote" home the pumpkin.

Studebaker

No motor car is more satisfactory!

Made of the best materials the market affords, under most precise standards of workmanship, the Studebaker Big-Six Touring Car is the outstanding value among fine cars.

It is a roomy, seven-passenger car but is not bulky. And it does not carry an ounce of excess weight.

The 60-horsepower motor provides speed, stamina, flexibility and power in abundance.

Comfort is insured by correct design, long, semi-elliptic springs, restful nine-inch seat cushions and shock absorbers.

The body lines are distinctive, and the equipment includes many motoring refinements such as the one-piece windshield, tool pocket in left front door and the courtesy light on the driver's side which illuminates the roadway in passing cars at night.

At $1650 it represents a large saving over cars that do not even approach it in intrinsic value. And it is economical to drive and possesses high resale value.

The body, like the chassis, is built in Studebaker plants, which eliminates middlemen's profits. The savings resulting are passed along to you.

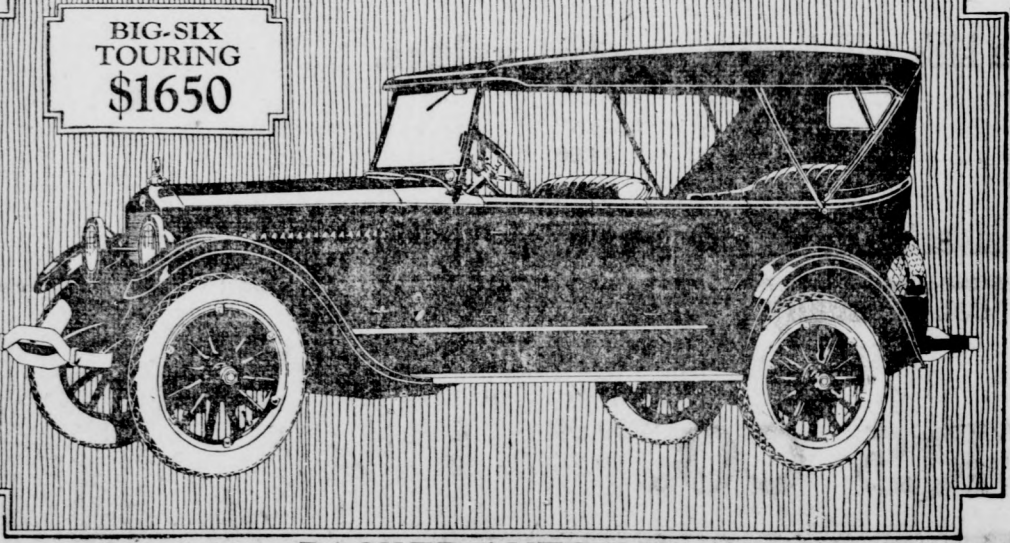

The Big-Six is a wonderful motor car! It well sustains the 70-year Studebaker reputation for business integrity and honest value.

Auto Road Signs Carry Information of Value to Southland's Drivers

Auto road signs that carry information as to mileage will be the latest improvement in road marking to be taken up by the Auto Club of Southern California.

While the highways of Southern California were in an unsettled condition as to their general routes, it was impossible to place the mileage notice on the signs because there were so many roads changes.

Motorists will find that it will be a material help to them in traveling about this part of the state to learn just how far it is to the next "eats" or the next place where gasoline may be obtained.

A vast amount of hard labor is involved in this arrangement of the road signs, but hard labor is one of the best things attributed to the Auto club, and so the winter months will find the new signs blossoming out on hundreds of miles of permanent highways.

The man in the picture is "Doug" Rhodes, who has charge of placing all the new signs.

ENLARGE PLANTS, TRADE GROWING

Great Future Is Expected by Auto Manufacturers Who Expand Factories

DETROIT, Nov. 11.—Plant extensions aggregating several millions of dollars announced by several motor car and accessory manufacturing companies during the past few weeks most effectively reflects the optimistic attitude of the automotive industry toward future business. It also silences all talk there has been of the industry having reached the saturation point in production and consumption.

Conspicuous among the companies undertaking large building programs are Dodge Brothers Fisher Body Corporation, Chevrolet Motor, Gray Motor, C. H. Willis and Company, Durant Motor, Lincoln Motor, Studebaker Corporation, Ford Motor Company, Ford of Canada, Hupp Motor.

Increased Production
Dodge Brothers have started a $1,500,000 addition to its main plant so as to have 500,000 additional square feet of floor space. This will permit increasing production from 650 cars to 800 cars daily.

Fisher Body Corporation plans for the coming year are perhaps the most ambitious of any. This company is providing for 100 per cent increase in floor space which now is 1,500,000 square feet.

The Studebaker Corporation is completing a new closed body plant, car storage and shipping building, new electric power plant and installation of additional machinery involving about $2,000,000 at South Bend. These additions will bring production capacity to 150,000 cars yearly compared with 100,000.

Auto Accidents Are Reaching High Mark

Indicating the tremendous increase in traffic accidents paralleling the development of use of automobiles, the safety bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California has issued a statement that automobile smashups in Los Angeles alone thus far this year have broken all previous records by 10,000 cases.

The auto club statement declares that total traffic accidents in Los Angeles this year, up to the present week, have totaled 22,148 as compared with 23,193 for the same period last year. It is estimated that accidents for the year will total more than 40,000.

During the month of October, just ended, there were 4000 traffic accidents in Los Angeles city, as compared with 2939 last year. Officials of the Auto Club state that accidents in other cities of the southland are proportionately as large.

The safety bureau of the Automobile club is preparing new campaigns against careless driving, for better regulations and codes for the driving public and other measures to reduce the toll of life health and property made by the mishaps.

LICENSE GOOD IN ALL STATES, PLAN

Reciprocity for Motorists.
Also Elimination Excise
Taxes Being Urged

Nation-wide reciprocity for motorists and the elimination of discriminatory war excise taxes against automobiles, trucks and automobile accessories will be the goal of the legislative activities of the American Automobile association during the coming year, according to plans outlined by M. O. Eldridge, executive chairman of the A. A. A., and adopted by the executive board at a meeting held in Washington recently.

He called attention to the difference in automobile laws of the various states, some of which permit a visiting motorist only thirty days within their borders without purchasing a new tag, while in others the period runs as high as six months.

"In my opinion," said Mr. Eldridge, "there should be a national law authorizing a motorist who has paid for his license tags in his home state and has complied with the laws of that state, to motor anywhere in the United States without paying additional money they came opposite a small, ices."

Claim Gasoline Is Poison Ivy Enemy

Recent discovery by medical science that gasoline and benzene are sure cures for poison ivy is expected to be comforting to motorists who like to hike in the mountains but refrain from doing so from fear of being poisoned.

Poison ivy infection, the doctors say, is no different from any other chemical burn. The poison ivy oil may be dissolved and removed entirely by a liberal application of gasoline or benzene. The sooner it is applied after infection the better, but it is declared to be effective if used as much as eight hours after irritation of the skin develops.

Hikers may also avail themselves of this remedy, as there are few districts reached by walkers that an occasional automobile does not appear with enough gasoline to spare for first aid treatment.

Visitors at Grand Canyon Plentiful

There were 42,884 visitors at Grand Canyon National Park during April, May, June and July this year, according to a bulletin just issued by the Santa Fe railroad and made public by W. R. Flynn, local agent. This is an increase of 17,062 over the number of visitors in the same period last year. Grand Canyon Park is open all the year, and the number of visitors this year is expected to break all records.

The Santa Fe has adopted new arrangements for stopovers at the Grand Canyon by trans-continental travelers, so that visitors may stay two or three days or longer and be assured of their Pullman space on resuming the journey.

Certified

---the Seal
of Satisfaction

Every motor car you see on the street is a used car. Some cars have been used more than others. A good used car is often a better purchase than a cheap new one. This is especially true, if sold by a reliable motor car dealer.

You can now buy a used car with the absolute certainty that it is exactly as represented. A signed certificate of value goes with every used car we sell. The seal on this certificate is the seal of your entire satisfaction. The last element of uncertainty has been taken out of the purchase of a used automobile.

You can select a fine car from the many in our used car stock now, with the same confidence that you have in the purchase of any article of known and positive value. Come in and see our splendid assortment of fine used cars, all priced at new, low levels. And remember—every one is certified.

THE SEAL OF SATISFACTION PROTECTS YOU

On the certificate which we give to the purchaser of a used car, there is a seal—we call it "The Seal of Satisfaction." This certificate and the seal and signature upon the document establish with absolute certainty the condition of the car you buy. You are going to be satisfied because you know exactly what you are buying. You can take pride in the ownership of any of the fine cars we are now offering because every one is certified and sealed with "The Seal of Satisfaction." Come in and see them.

Comfort, Beauty, Brilliant Performance

Perhaps the most eloquent thing that can be said of both the sedan, and the coupe, is that the bodies are fully worthy of the Hupmobile chassis.

These enclosed Hupmobiles afford comfort and convenience to a degree that means positive luxury.

The satisfaction which the Hupmobile owner feels in the consistent, and brilliant, performance of his car, is heightened and intensified by the pride which he justly takes in the closed Hupmobile's appointments and appearance.

We believe that the sound, solid worth of the Hupmobile was never expressed more generously than it is in these two models.

We urge you to telephone us for a demonstration—or come in.

The 1923 Four Cylinder Roadster

Smart, sturdy—you won't find another two-passenger four cylinder roadster that compares with this new Buick in quality or in price.

Inspect it from any angle—snug, beautifully tailored top; long, low body lines; heavy one-piece crown fenders; lots of room for two people and two compartments for their luggage.

A big steering wheel that comes up to you, a shifting lever that operates without bending forward, a transmission lock and improvements which give all 1923 Buicks a Class "A" fire insurance rating.

And, below the surface, the famous Buick Valve-in-Head motor and chassis with refinements throughout which set a new standard of quality and performance in automobiles.

These are just a few of the many distinctive features that make this new roadster a car without an equal in its class.

We'll be glad to give you a demonstration any time.

CHEVROLET MAKES FOUR-DOOR FORD ECONOMICAL TOUR SEDAN ON MARKET

Car Averaged Twenty-Five Miles to Gallon of Gas on 16-Mile Trip

Details of how a Chevrolet car averaged twenty-five miles to the gallon of gasoline and 500 miles to a quart of oil on a 1600-mile tour to Oregon and return were related yesterday by C. L. Smith, Glendale agent for the Chevrolet company.

The car that performed this feat, Mr. Smith stated, is owned by F. D. Armstrong, associated with the Ralph Grocery Department, Glendale.

Mr. Armstrong just recently returned to Glendale after a two-weeks' tour of northern California and Oregon. In addition to his small expenditures for oil and gas supplies, he told Mr. Smith that he didn't spend one cent for repairs on the entire trip.

"He just raved about the economical operations of the Chevrolet," the latter asserted. "But, as I have always contended, the cost of running a car like the Chevrolet is zero as compared with the expense associated with the operation of larger automobiles."

"Mr. Armstrong turned in a large touring car for his Chevrolet some months ago. He was one of the first persons in Glendale to purchase one of the 1922 model cars."

The new 1923, enclosed, superior Chevrolets will be on exhibition at the big auto show which opens in Los Angeles today. Mr. Smith said that two of the new models were shipped from the factory to the show especially for display purposes.

One of the 1923-make cars is now on exhibition on the floor of the C. L. Smith salesroom, Colorado at Orange street.

A new disc wheels for automobiles is formed of thin slices of wood glued together under heavy pressure and with their grains so crossed that the wheel can not warp.

New Model Making Debut at L. A. Auto Show; Will Be Here in Few Weeks

The staff of Jesse H. Smith, local Ford distributor, is making preparations for the appearance in Glendale of the new Ford four-door sedan, the very latest in Ford production.

Pictures of the new model were received yesterday at the Smith offices, and are now being shown the trade by Clair D. D'Arge, sales manager.

The debut of the new car in California will be made at the tenth annual auto show, which opens in Los Angeles today. And just as soon as it is possible to obtain deliveries, Mr. D'Arge said, his firm will have some on exhibition in Glendale. Some of the features of the new car as enumerated by Mr. D'Arge follow:

"The body is approximately three inches longer than the two-door sedan, extra leg room being provided for the occupants of the rear seat.

"All of the body panels are of aluminum with enclosed mouldings, the metals extending up around the window sills and runways, so that there are no wood parts exposed.

"The body of the car, although longer than the present design, weighs approximately eighty pounds less. The saving in weight is gained by the use of aluminum panels in place of steel. A lighter roof is also equipped on the car.

"It is of the soft type with artificial leather reinforced and padded, making it as durable and substantial as the old fibre board type.

"Overall height of the body is one inch less than the present two-door design.

"The tire carrier is of a new design which permits the spare tire to set at an angle that corresponds with the lines of the body. The front door openings are twenty-three and one-half inches, while the rear door openings are the same as on the present model.

The windows on all four doors are operated by means of a crank type window regulator. The rear cushion is forty-six and one-half inches, or an inch longer than the one in the two-door sedan. Another feature of the four-door sedan is that the front seat is large enough to accommodate a third person.

Another feature of the four-door sedan is that the front seat is large enough to accommodate a third person.

The sale of used cars by the established dealer is usually incidental to the sale of new cars, and not for profit, and the dealer welcomes the used car purchaser as one who may later on be a customer for a brand new automobile," says Lyman P. Clark, of the company.

"Because that is truly the established dealer's attitude, it can be seen that the prospective used car buyer may expect to receive fair treatment and the same consideration as the man who buys a new car.

"Every motor car you see on the street is a used car. Some cars have been used more than others. A good used car is often a better purchase than a cheap new one—this is especially true if sold by a reliable motor car dealer.

"The established automobile dealer of today is recognized as a progressive business man, and no business man has yet found a better way to extend and increase his business than by giving satisfaction and full value to every customer," concluded Mr. Clark.

The question of how to select a good used car with little or no risk of disappointment is one that is constantly discussed among prospective buyers, and yet the answer is simpler than they imagine," according to the Glendale Motor Car Company, 124 West Colorado street, who are now conducting a very successful sale of used cars.

NEW STOCK ESSEX AND HUDSON HERE

Kelley-Kline Company Display Late Sedan and Coach Models at Showrooms

All models of Hudson and Essex automobiles will be on display at the Tenth Annual Automobile Show, which opens in Los Angeles today, according to P. A. Kelley, of the Kelley-Kline Motor company, Glendale distributors of Hudson and Essex cars.

Two of the latest makes in the Hudson car that will be displayed, Mr. Kelley stated, are the sedan and coach models. Both of these cars are now on exhibition on the floor of the Kelley-Kline showrooms at 230 North Brand boulevard.

Glendaleans not taking in the Los Angeles show, but who are desirous of viewing the latest in motor car production, are invited by Mr. Kelley to inspect the new Hudson cars at their local address.

Of the two models shown, the lines of the Hudson sedan show a number of improvements in build and equipment when compared with the old model. The lines of the coach remain practically the same.

Each of the models, however, together with the new Essex, are attractive in appearance. And as Mr. Kelley remarked: "They will pass the inspection of the most critical motorist."

MOVIES TO SHOW CADILLAC PLANT

Film Completed by Automobile Company to Be Used to Promote Manufacture

To promote the sale of American manufactures at home and in foreign lands, Herbert Hoover, United States secretary of commerce, has given his support to production of motion pictures showing actual manufacturing processes in some of the country's leading industries.

In cooperation with the Department of Commerce, the Cadillac Motor Car company has completed a film picturing "the story of a V-type, eight cylinder motor car," to be included in the government's film series.

Announcement to this effect was received yesterday from the Cadillac company by W. H. Court, of the Court Motor Company, Glendale agents for the Cadillac car.

At the outset, the film unfolds a panorama over factory roofs which cover more than forty-five acres of floor space, including the home of the car and gild house of more than 7,000 craftsmen.

In producing the film, the cinema photographer has revealed in taking "close-ups" and "medium close-ups." They give one the audience an impression of standing at the very elbow of skilled and seasoned artisans. The trip through the factory becomes intimate and personal, and continuous action on the screen carries the spectator from the first pouring of metal in foundry, through machining and assembling processes in factory to arrival of the finished masterpiece at the loading dock.

Seek Information? Bureau to Answer

An "Intelligence Department" for the use of all local and visiting motorists from the east has just been established by the touring bureaus of the Automobile Club of Southern California throughout this part of the state. General questions pertaining to motor car maintenance outside of mechanical difficulties, will be answered by the new department of the Auto club, say the officials. The intelligence bureau will be a sort of clearing house for the troubles of automobile owners, so any motorist who has a question to ask may now feel free to call the club and state his query. If motorists wish to know the location of certain auto agencies, accessory establishments or business houses, they can just call the club's "intelligencers" in the touring bureau. All information on auto licenses, drivers' licenses and various laws in force in California will likewise be supplied the motoring public. Thousands of visiting motorists are arriving from the east and north at this time, and the "intelligence bureau" will prove of particular benefit to them, it is said. This information will be given out in connection with the regular road "dope" and other highway information.

LATE STUDEBAKER MODEL DISPLAYED

Big-Six Sedan Is Now Being Exhibited at Packer
Auto Company

The Big-Six sedan latest special production of the Studebaker company, is now on display in the salesrooms of the Packer Auto company, Glendale. Studebaker agents, striking in appearance and complete to the last detail, the new car carries with it an elegance that commands attention. That it has been receiving the latter is evidenced by a statement made yesterday by Donald C. Packer, of the Packer company, who said that motorists have been dropping in daily throughout the week to inspect the big car. The "Big-Six" arrived Monday. Commenting on its equipment, Mr. Packer says: "The beauty of this Big-Six sedan is enhanced by such touches as the handsome nickel-plated radiator shell, motorometer and ornamental radiator cap. Other features of beauty, utility and completeness are the nickel-plated bumpers, front and rear; automatic windshield cleaner; rear view mirror, and a spacious trunk with dust-proof cover at the rear, which is easily accessible because the two extra disc wheels are carried on the front fenders. "Another point claimed for the "Big-Six" is that it is equipped so as to be equally adaptable for year-round service in town or cross-country touring. "The distinctive sedan body is noted for its sturdy construction. It is mounted upon the 60-horsepower Studebaker Big-Six chassis, which has gained world-wide recognition for reliability and all-around performance. Mr. Packer stated yesterday that his firm had received three carloads of Studebaker cars this week. They include all the latest models, and can now be seen on display at the company's showrooms, 245 South Brand boulevard.

REO CAR MEETS MOTORING NEEDS

Harry E. White Tells About
Different Models; Answer
All Requirements

"There is a Reo passenger car for every motoring need," declared Harry E. White, head of Harry E. White, Inc., San Fernando valley distributors for the Reo cars and trucks. "For instance," continued Mr. White, "the seven passenger touring car is one for the family. We claim that it is as easy to handle as a five passenger car. "Then there is the new six sedan and the four passenger coupe. Both are serviceable to the family or the individual. "In this day, the professional or business man must have efficiency to make for greater success—and the new business coupe answers this need. It was especially designed for this purpose. "Finally, there is the roadster. It has a snappy get-away and can furnish speed enough to satisfy the most seasoned driver. "We will be pleased to take in your old car in trade on a new Reo. Remember, too, that our repair shop is equipped to do the best of work—at the right prices. We also do washing, polishing and overhauling. We are open nights by appointment."

REO

Powerful Motor

Irresistible Beauty

7-Passenger Touring Car—the family car par excellence. With seating for seven, it is as easily maneuverable as the car of five-passenger capacity.

New Six Sedan; 4-Passenger Coupe—these two are almost interchangeable in their adaptability to the service of family or individuals.

For the professional or business man—in countless lines of practical commercial service, the New Business Coupe was especially designed.

THERE IS A
REO PASSENGER CAR
FOR EVERY MOTORING NEED

Roadster—one of the most popular Reos ever made—with snappy get away, pep, and speed to satisfy the most seasoned motorist.

All Passenger car models are mounted on the "Incomparable Six" Chassis—"The Six of Sixty Superiorities"—epitome of the Seventeen years' experience of this company in building quality motor cars.

TRADE IN YOUR OLD CAR — WE WILL TAKE IT

Remember, our Repair Shop is equipped to do repair work on all kinds of cars—do it scientifically and at the right prices. Washing, polishing, storage, minor adjustments and general overhauling. All work guaranteed to give entire satisfaction. Shop open evenings by appointment. We solicit your patronage on the merit of our work.

With automobiles, as with everything else, "There is nothing great, or small, save by comparison."

The more careful the comparison, the more fully will Chalmers superiority be revealed.

You may invest a little more than you expected, because you find in the Chalmers so much greater value, at so slight a difference in price.

Or you may spend less, because all that you ask or receive from more costly cars you find equally in the Chalmers.

In either case you have profited by investigating.

Egypt Is Modern

Motor transportation of all kinds in Egypt, particularly with regard to taxicabs and commercial vehicles, received a considerable impetus during 1921. There are over 1600 passenger cars, of which 234 are taxis and 120 trucks, in Alexandria, while in Cairo there are about 1600 passenger cars, of which 308 are taxis, and 110 motor trucks. Motorcycles in these two cities number about 350 and 900, respectively.

The MUCKER

by Edgar Rice Burroughs
Copyright 1921 by Edgar Rice Burroughs

"Hang tight, kiddo," he cried, and started at a brisk trot toward the forest.

There he kept close behind the two, reserving his fire until it could be effectively delivered. With savage yells the samurai leaped after their quarry. The natives all carried the long, sharp spears of the aboriginal headhunters. Their swords swung in their harness, and their ancient armor clanked as they ran.

It was a strange, weird picture that the oddly contrasted party presented as they raced across the clearing of this forgotten isle toward a jungle as primitive as when "the evening and the morning were the third day." An American girl of the highest social caste borne in the arms of that most vicious of all social pariahs—the criminal mucker of the slums of a great city—and defending them with drawn revolver, a French count and soldier of fortune, while in their wake streamed a yelling pack of half-caste demons clothed in the habiliments of sixteenth century Japan, and wielding the barbarous spears of the savage head hunting aborigines whose fierce blood coursed in their veins with that of the descendants of Taka-mi-mu-bi-no-kami.

Three-quarters of the distance had been covered in safety before the samurai came within safe spear range of the trio. There, seeing the danger to the girl, dropped back a few paces hoping to hold the brown warriors from her. The foremost of the pursuers raised his weapon aloft, carrying his spear hand back of his shoulder for the throw. There, the revolver spoke, and the man pitched forward, rolling over and over before he came to rest.

A howl of rage went up from the samurai, and a half-dozen spears leaped at long range toward Theriere. One of the weapons transfixed his thigh, bringing him to earth. Byrnes was at the forest's edge as the Frenchman fell—it was the girl, though, who witnessed the catastrophe.

"Stop!" she cried. "Mr. Theriere is down."

The mucker halted, and turned his head in the direction of the Frenchman, who had raised himself to one elbow and was firing at the advancing enemy. He frowned the girl to her feet.

"Wait here!" he commanded, and sprang back toward Theriere.

Before he reached him another spear had caught the man full in the chest, toppling him, unconscious, to the earth. The samurai were rushing rapidly upon

ELECTROMOTIVE FORCE CURVE.

If the electromotive force is called positive when to the right in A (Fig. 1), and negative when to the left, the changes in it may be shown by a curve like Fig. 2. Successive moments of time are taken along the horizontal axis, and the corresponding electromotive forces are shown by height of the vertical ordinates. When the north pole is in position 1, Fig. 1, no emf. is produced. This is shown by the point marked 1, Fig. 2. A short time afterward, radio telegraphy, 500-cycle generators are employed. Within very recent years special machines have been developed for generating frequencies as high as 100,000 cycles per second, to be applied directly to the radio circuits. This frequency corresponds to a radio wave length of 3,000 meters.

Transfers of Service.

Transfers of light and water service have been requested by the following residents and orders are now on file in the public service department at the city hall:

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE PEDDLER DOG

One day when Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy had gone down to the seven and eight-cent store to get a new key for the piano and when Uncle Wiggily was left all alone in the hollow stump bungalow there came a knock on the door.

"I wonder if that's Nurse Jane back so soon?" thought the rabbit gentleman, as he looked from a side window. But he did not see his muskrat lady housekeeper on the steps. Instead, Uncle Wiggily saw a large shaggy dog with a pack on his back.

"That can't be the Peddler Dog," said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "He hasn't a uniform on and besides there is no one here who needs arresting—that is unless he wants to arrest me and I haven't done anything that I know of."

Again came the knock on the door and Uncle Wiggily, knowing that most dogs in Woodhatch were friendly, opened the door.

"Good morning," barked the dog politely. "I am introducing a little article here needed in every home. No house should be without one, from the palace of the millionaire to the hollow stump bungalow of a rabbit gentleman. This little article—"

"Thank you, I don't care for anything today," Mr. Peddler Dog, spoke Uncle Wiggily, for he saw that the dog was a peddler.

"This little article," went on the dog, paying no more attention to Uncle Wiggily than if the rabbit had not been there, "this little article can be used as a bookcase, a stove poker or an ice pick. It will crack nuts, polish the automobile, fasten a rattling window at night, pull down the shades, light the fire, put out the cat, wind the clock, bring your breakfast up—"

"Thank you, I think we need nothing like that today," spoke Uncle Wiggily, politely twinking his pink nose and smiling.

"Not only will it bring up your breakfast," went on the Peddler Dog, paying no more attention to Uncle Wiggily than if the bunny had not been there, "but this little article will clean your shoes, make the dust off the piano, wind the phonograph and empty the waste paper basket. To introduce this article, which should be in every home, I am giving away one to a customer, charging you only the small sum of a dime, ten cents, two jittneys, for the pink tissue paper in which it is wrapped. Here you are!" and before Uncle Wiggily knew what he was doing he had taken from the Peddler Dog something wrapped in pink tissue paper.

The dog held out a paw politely, murmuring:

"A dime, ten cents, two jittneys—merely to have you try it. Once used, always used. This will stop the baby from crying."

"But what have no baby here?" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily.

"Get one then! Get one!" laughed the dog. "Every house should have a baby, and with this article—"

"Of course Baby Bunty comes over once in a while," said Uncle Wiggily, not wanting the dog to get started on his talk again, "but she isn't exactly a baby and—"

"This little article will take the place of a tooth brush, and at the same time will turn the clothes wringer on Mondays, or on Tuesdays if your wife washes that day," went on the dog.

"And then—"

"But I have no wife!" interrupted Uncle Wiggily. "I live here with Nurse Jane, my muskrat lady housekeeper, and—"

"Well, you're not going to live with her much longer!" broke in the dog.

"No house should be without one," a harsh and unpleasant voice, and there stood the Bob Cat, the tassels on his ears quivering and his lips drawn back in a snarl.

"Is this a friend of yours, Uncle Wiggily?" asked the Peddler Dog, taking from his pack another object wrapped in pink tissue paper.

"Well, no, not exactly a friend," said the bunny gentleman. "He is—"

"No matter," broke in the dog. "I am, my friend," he said to the Bob Cat, "introducing a little article that will curl your hair, comb out the tassels of your ears, pick burrs off your little stump of a tail, light the gas stove for you—"

"I don't want anything from you," snarled the Bob Cat, "I want to nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears and then—"

"Pardon me," said the Peddler Dog, "but just try this." and before the Bob Cat knew what was happening, the dog drew a lemon squeezer from his pack, clamped it on the short tail of the Bob Cat, and began to punch him like anything.

"Ouch! Wow! Ouch!" howled the Bob Cat, and then he ran away with the lemon squeezer still on his tail.

"Good-bye," barked the dog with a laugh.

"I guess, after you avenge me that way, I'll have to buy one of your thing-a-ma-bobs that do so many things!" said Uncle Wiggily.

"Thank you—a dime, ten cents, two jittneys!" barked the dog. "I'm much obliged," and he took the money while Uncle Wiggily took into the bungalow the little tool that was like a cork-screw, stove lifter, phonograph handle and stove brush all in one. Nurse Jane laughed when she saw it and said it was no good. But after all, the Peddler Dog saved the bunny's ears.

And if the table doesn't try to stand on one leg and make the cups and saucers slide off and turn somersaults on the floor I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's and Bunty's snarls.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

COLLAPSIBLE LOOP ANTENNA.

In general, loop antenna reception is found advisable for use in congested areas where interference from a number of transmitting stations operating at the same time, is experienced, or where an outdoor aerial is impossible. In the first instance, the reason for this is that the loop antenna responds only to signals from stations in the direction in which the loop points. Loop reception, in the highly perfected state, it is found today, is so simple an operation that it is merely necessary to point the loop in the direction of the desired transmitting station, turn on the current and control the reception by a single adjustment. The adjustment is performed by a condenser generally mounted in the base of the loop, as shown in the accompanying illustration.

Loop Folded.

This particular loop is designed to fold up after use, like an umbrella.

FIRST JAPANESE BURGLAR
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—Upwards of fifty robberies are charged to K. T. Yashania, Japanese burglar whom the police declare is the first of his race to rob white persons. Search is being made for a woman accomplice. Pawn tickets and considerable loot has been found in Yashania's rooms, who is lodged in the city jail.

SCHOOLS CROWDED, BOARD DECLARES

Mass Meeting to Consider Problem; Enrollment Is Steadily Growing

The middle of the year will receive a large B7th class which will increase its enrollment greatly.

Enrollment Grows
"The Wilson Avenue Intermediate school is within approximately twenty-five of its enrollment at this time last year," remarked Mr. White. "It's library is in use as a class room practically every day and the auditorium is in use as a class room two whole days in the week. I think we can get through there until the end of the year, for while this school will receive probably three sections of B7s it will lose two large sections of A8s. By crowding up a little more it will be able to handle the situation."

"The Broadway school is running beyond its normal capacity. The janitor's storeroom on the first floor is still being used as a classroom. The board has condemned its use as a classroom but we haven't any alternative. Several rooms have fifty or more pupils and every room except that little storeroom has over forty."

Three Bungalows
"The Pacific Avenue school now has three wooden bungalows on the grounds besides the kindergarten. We feel that quite a large addition to that building will be necessary to take care of it next year."

"The Acacia school is very full. All the rooms have over forty and the reason they haven't over fifty is because at the opening of the term about sixty children were transferred to the Colorado and Cerritos schools who really lived in the Acacia district."

"We found the Colorado school also was full and running to its full capacity. The question that will have to be considered is whether this is a good location for a permanent school plant."

The grammar school board of education is looking forward with anticipation to next Thursday night's mass meeting.

Shaft for Mine Dug In Two Directions
PINEVILLE, W. Va.—Ordinarily you would suppose that in digging a shaft for a coal mine you would dig downward. J. W. Powell is doing it contrariwise at Glen Rogers, this county, and is digging it upward. Powell's mine has one shaft that goes down to a seven-foot vein of coal lying horizontally in the ground. The coal was removed for a considerable distance, forming a tunnel as the operation progressed. Then Powell decided he wanted another shaft at the other end of the tunnel, and he planned to dig it from the bottom as well as from the top. When he announced his plans engineers scoffed at the idea, but he went to work on it and is now actually digging the shaft from the bottom up.

stood for a moment, and without speaking a word, returned to his automobile. The simple, but impressive ceremony, was thus concluded.

First Duty of America
The burden of President Harding's Armistice day message to the American people was that the part taken by American forces overseas has imposed upon the United States "a duty to recognize that henceforth we must maintain a helpful and sustaining attitude in all the broader relationships that involve the nation."

He said that the first duty of America should be to their own dead, but that that duty could not be "adequately discharged in narrowness and selfishness."

"That we may be guided," the president said, "to a just judgment of the time and occasion for further proof of our interest in the common cause of humanity, and in choosing the methods whereby to discharge the obligation this created, will be, I am sure, a fitting prayer for this Armistice anniversary."

Besides President Harding's visit to Arlington, the only other Armistice day ceremony scheduled here was a pilgrimage to the S street home of Woodrow Wilson.

In accordance with a custom established last year, thousands of the former president's friends and admirers will gather in front of his home late this afternoon to pay their respects.

Lawyer In Jail by Error Gets Lesson
KENMORE, O.—After spending two hours behind the bars in the local jail, Attorney Oscar Hunsicker says he understands now why unfortunates sent there are so prompt in sending for him. He is a popular counsellor for malefactors of greater and lesser wealth here.

It was his last client who got the lawyer in duress, Hunsicker went to confer with Joe Voditch, held on a liquor charge. Chief of Police Harry Poulson escorted the attorney to the jail and then locked him in. Immediately thereafter the chief was summoned to testify in court. Later he was called to the telephone and, with one thing and another, he forgot all about Hunsicker.

The outraged barrister pounded on the bars till his knuckles were sore and shouted till his throat ached. Eventually a police sergeant heard him yelling for release and took him before Mayor Goodman for an explanation. Hunsicker did not mince words, and the mayor cut his expletives short with a curt dismissal.

Hunsicker says the "Keep Out" sign which adorns the jail entrance possesses a sinister meaning for him now.

ATTEMPT TO SAVE MAN
SANTA ROSA, Nov. 11.—District Attorney George W. Hoyle was notified today that an application will be made to Governor Stephens to commute the death sentence of Abdul Mahommed, Petaluma Hindu rancher, condemned to hang at San Quentin November 24, on the basis of an affidavit made in San Quentin by Mahommed that three other Hindus were responsible for the death of a fellow countryman who was beaten to death on his ranch at Petaluma. Hoyle will not indorse the petition for a reprieve, holding that the man had a fair trial before a jury and at one time admitted his guilt.

HELP RED CROSS! IS MAYOR'S PLEA

Spencer Robinson Asks the Public to Give Hearty Response In Call for Funds

Following the announcement yesterday of the launching today of the annual Red Cross roll call, Mayor Spencer Robinson has issued the following proclamation: "The American Red Cross from the Pacific division headquarters in San Francisco expects to make their call for funds for carrying on the work of this splendid organization for the coming year, from November 11 to November 30."

"The patriotic people of Glendale unquestionably will not fall behind neighboring communities in furnishing their quota and doing their part in aid of this great patriotic organization which has done so much during war times for our soldiers and so much other needed work in peace times in the event of great calamities such as the San Francisco fire and earthquake."

Appreciate Service
"And we deeply appreciate the magnificent service which this beneficent organization has rendered in the past and urge upon our citizens that they enlist in peace times under the emblem of the Red Cross in the ever-present cause of humanity."

"The watchword of this campaign is 'A Red Cross Flag In Every Home by Thanksgiving Day.' Let each one do his small part and the great result will be accomplished."

Feature Program at Opening of New Shop

The Nordskog Record Shoppe in the Court Shops at 213 East Broadway was formally opened last night by Mr. and Mrs. Harry James of 1560 East Broadway in the presence of a number of their friends.

Arne Nordskog of Santa Monica, president of the Nordskog Record company, explained to the audience the purpose of the company which is to produce phonograph records of high excellence in California featuring western musicians and eastern musicians who desire to make their home in the Land of Sunshine.

According to Mr. James, Mr. Nordskog now has large record presses on their way to San Pedro from New York via the Panama canal and is looking about for a site for a laboratory which will have an initial capacity of about a million records a year. The possibility of locating this establishment in Glendale is being very favorably considered.

A short musical program was given last night in the patio surrounded by the Court Shops.

A group of songs were sung by Frank E. Geiger, base soloist at the Temple Baptist church. He was accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Reiche, organist at the Wilshire Methodist church. The number included "The Wreck of the Julie Plante" by O'Hara; "Duna" by McGill; "Sweet Little Woman of Mine" by Bartlett; "Left" by Clarence Gustlin of Santa Monica and Damon Runyon; and "America for Me," a new popular song for Armistice day.

Wilbur Herwig of 333 West Colorado street sang three songs: "Bonnie Sweet Bessie," "To Tell You All," and "Lassie O' Mine."

He was accompanied by Mrs. Herwig.

Mayor Spencer Robinson, who was accompanied by Mrs. Robinson, sang "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms."

The program was followed by open air dancing at which the quality of Nordskog records was demonstrated.

NEGLIGENCE SHOWN
Drivers of automobiles and trucks who approach grade crossings at high speed are guilty of contributory negligence in the event of accident, according to a decision of Judge Reilistab of the United States district court, New Jersey.

Hints of what the vaudeville will be are "Singing and Dancing Like You Like It," "A Melody Cocktail," "Alfalfa," "Black Face Comedy and Speed Dancers" and "Trained Pigs."

Charles Ray in "The Tailor-Made Man" will be the Sunday feature and in connection with the bill Paul Carson, organist, will play "Love's Old Sweet Song."

"It's a great bill," says Manager Howe.

The T. D. & L.

Armistice Day is being celebrated at the T. D. & L. theatre with the showing of the Ince feature, "Skin Deep," starring Milton Sills. It is a mighty drama and powerful story produced by Mr. Ince for the Armistice Day celebrations all over the United States.

"The Cowboy and the Lady" with Mary Miles Minter and Tom Moore in the leads will be the Sunday attraction at the T. D. & L. There will also be a Harold Lloyd comedy.

Manager Allan believes that this program will satisfy the patrons of the popular playhouse.
